Ike Victor In Idle Pay Fight

• Mitchell Calls For Tax Slash Decision Soon

Labor Secretary Urges "Deadline" Within 30-60 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tug of war over how to fight the recession Thursday produced an Eisenhower victory on jobless relief and a call from Secretary of Labor Mitchell for a decision about tax cuts within 30-60 days.

The House voted 370-17 for the administration plan for temporary expansion of the state-handled unemployed compensation systems.

It did so after junking 223-165 a rival proposal which would have set up outright relief grants from a 1½-billion-dollar federal fund.

The Eisenhower plan calls for a 50 per cent extension of the time in which insured workers could collect benefits, or an additional 13 weeks in most states. States would eventually pay the 600-million-dollar cost by means of payroll taxes or otherwise.

Tax Deadline Proposal

The tax suggestion by Mitchell amounted to proposing a deadline that would be reached no later than June 30.

He told a news conference, devoted to the question of how to overcome the recession, that he sees no solid improvement ahead.

At the same time, Mitchell said he agrees with President Eisenhower that the recession seems to be flattening out.

While the House debated its way toward a vote on broadly expanding jobless pay benefits, another parade of witnesses gave a Senate-House Economic subcommittee these views on what to do:

1. Spokesmen for the AFL-CIO, the National Grange, the National Farmers Union, and the Americans for Democratic Action all called for quick tax cuts.

Farm Bureau Optimistic

2. The American Farm Bureau, largest and most conservative of farm organizations, reported it found no reason for major federal action.

3. The National Association of Manufacturers called for an effort to deal with the underlying causes of both inflation and recession.

4. The Committee for Economic Development said that if the economic decline continues through May, it would wait no longer on calling for a big tax cut.

Rocket Carries Balloon Aloft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Launching of a balloon by rocket at 50 miles in the sky was announced Thursday by Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, director of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Dryden said the rocket was sent aloft last Friday at sundown at Wallops Island, off the eastern shore of Virginia.

He said the released balloon inflated successfully to a diameter of 12 feet and was tracked by radar for about an hour.

The project was preparatory to an attempt to send aloft a much bigger bag, 100 feet in diameter, which the NACA hopes to place in orbit at a height of 400 miles. Dryden said the larger balloon would be useful in studying long range communications as radar could be bounced off its surface.

The account of the launching of the 12-foot, 9-pound balloon was given at a luncheon of science writers and officials of the American Physical society.

The balloon disappeared over the Atlantic after it came down to 40,000 feet and was whisked out to sea by the jet stream. The bag, open at the bottom, was of plastic film with a layer of aluminum on the outside.

Installment Debts Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday that Americans again in March paid off installment debts at a faster rate than they incurred new debts.

Dulles Offers Soviet Arctic Deal

Russ Under Rising Pressure To Avoid Veto Of Arctic Plan

Some Satellite Nations Leaning Toward Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Thursday was under mounting pressure — some coming from satellite nations—to avoid a flat turndown of President Eisenhower's arctic military inspection plan.

This was the situation in advance of Friday's meeting of the U.N. Security Council, where indications up to now had pointed to a Soviet veto of the U.S. proposal. It aims to eliminate any threat of massive air attack across the polar regions.

Dulles Hints Concessions

In Washington, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States might curb its nuclear-laden arctic flights if the Soviet Union would agree to setting up an arctic inspection system. The Soviet Union wants the Security Council to call on the United States to end all such flights.

Diplomatic informants said Poland and Czechoslovakia had appealed to the Soviets to shy away from a strictly negative attitude and to accept the Eisenhower plan in some form, perhaps modified by Soviet amendments.

The informants added that the Communist diplomats had told Moscow it would be a big mistake to veto a plan endorsed by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and neutral nations as a possible means of ending the East-West disarmament deadlock.

Dag Backs Amendment

There was no word here on what instructions had been sent to the Soviet delegation from Moscow.

Hammarskjold told a news conference he had no reaction thus far from the Soviet Union to his intervention in the Council Tuesday on behalf of the Eisenhower plan.

He said he approved a Swedish amendment put forth in the hope it would make the U.S. proposal more acceptable to the Soviet Union. The amendment refers to the possibility of discussing arctic inspection at a summit meeting.

GM Denies New, Improved Offer To UAW Planned

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. Thursday firmly denied reports it might come up with a better offer to the United Auto Workers before the deadline of contract expiration May 29.

Such reports have been circulating in the industry for the past two days.

Vice President Louis G. Seaton, GM's chief negotiator, told a news conference the company is standing firm on its offer to renew wage increases and fringe benefits provided in the present contract.

"That's where we stand and that's where we are going to stay," Seaton said. "We do not have any other offer under development."

Seaton said the company feels it has a broad responsibility to its shareholders, employes and the nation as a whole to stand firm. He declared many letters have been received from the public urging the company to hold the wage line.

But he said this did not mean keeping the status quo. He said GM's offer meant workers would get a minimum of seven million dollars a year more. He estimated union demands would mean a cost increase of at least 511 million dollars a year.

Seaton had no comment on the reports that GM, Ford and Chrysler were getting together behind the scenes on bargaining policy. Along with these reports came the rumors that a jucier plum would be offered the union by the Big Three.

So far the companies have made identical responses to union demands.

Texas Flood Crisis Eases

DALLAS (AP) — Rains eased off Thursday and the threat of more flooding in north central and northeast Texas waned.

Many of the 200 persons estimated by Dallas police to have left their homes returned to their residences as the Trinity River began dropping here.

Around Atlanta, a hard-hit area in northeast Texas, Mayor F. P. Ellis said the flood crisis appeared to have subsided.

At least two apparent deaths Thursday were blamed on the weather — making a total of six since the storms began last Friday.

Sheriff Noble Crawford of Longview said Richard Wayland Davis, 18, of Tyler, presumably drowned while rounding up horses on horseback. His horse apparently stumbled, plunged Davis into the muddy waters of the Sabine River.

The State Highway Patrol blamed a rain-slick pavement for a two-car collision seven miles south of Olney that killed Milton Glenn Shaw, 42, Arlington, Tex.

U.S. Willing To Cut Down Bomb Flights

Reduction Linked To Neutralization Of North Pole Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States offered Thursday to consider cutting down its H-bomb flights in the arctic if the Soviet Union accepts the U.S. North Pole inspection plan.

Secretar yof State Dulles made the proposal at a news conference. He emphasized that Soviet acceptance or rejection will affect the question of whether President Eisenhower goes to a summit conference.

Dulles' olive branch mood matched that of Eisenhower at a news conference Wednesday. The President said then he felt more sadness than anger at Russia's derisive rejection of his arctic inspection plan and at Soviet outcries against U.S. nuclear alert flights in the area.

Possible Turning Point

Dulles disclosed new secret approaches to the Soviets, in Washington and New York, in an effort to sell the Soviets on the polar proposal. If accepted, he said, the proposal could mark a turning point in the cold war and possibly bring further disarmament agreements.

While Dulles' news conference dealt mostly with this issue, he also said:

1. The United States hopes to have normal friendly relations with the United Arab Republic—that U.S. release of 26 million dollars in foreign Egyptian assets was almost automatic when President Nasser reached agreement on compensating former owners of the Suez Canal.

U. S. Neutral In Indo Revolt

2. The U.S. government has no legal right to prevent private U.S. citizens from fighting in Indonesia's rebellion; but the government's own policy careful neutrality will be continued.

3. President Eisenhower has not yet decided whether to suspend nuclear tests after this summer's series in the Pacific, but the question is being closely studied.

4. The key problem in oil is not that of production but of marketing. This was taken as a warning to Mideast countries to think twice before seizing foreign-owned oil properties. Dulles said the Soviet Union cannot provide a market because it is an exporter of oil.

Husband Chooses Wife To Mother

CHICAGO (AP)—Anthony Wolder, 36, faced with the task of choosing between his wife and his mother, picked his spouse Thursday—and on the wife's terms.

Wolder agreed to:

Visit his mother for only two hours each week.

Let his wife, Evelyn, 33, sit in or business discussions.

Turn the family car over to Evelyn's legal possession with the provision he can use it only with her consent.

Wolder accepted the terms in opposing his wife's suit for separate maintenance.

Mrs. Wolder's attorney, Norman Becker, told the court that Wolder had been spending most of his time and often staying overnight at the home of his mother, Mrs. Peter Wolder.

Additionally, Becker said, Wolder deferred to his mother's wishes, permitted her to criticize his wife, and even got his mother's permission before taking his wife out for an evening.

Ike Will Address Middie Graduates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will deliver the commencement address at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., on June 4 the White House announced Thursday.

This will be the first time Eisenhower has addressed a graduating class at the academy. In 1955 he spoke at commencement exercises at the U.S. Military Academy, his alma mater, at West Point, N.Y.

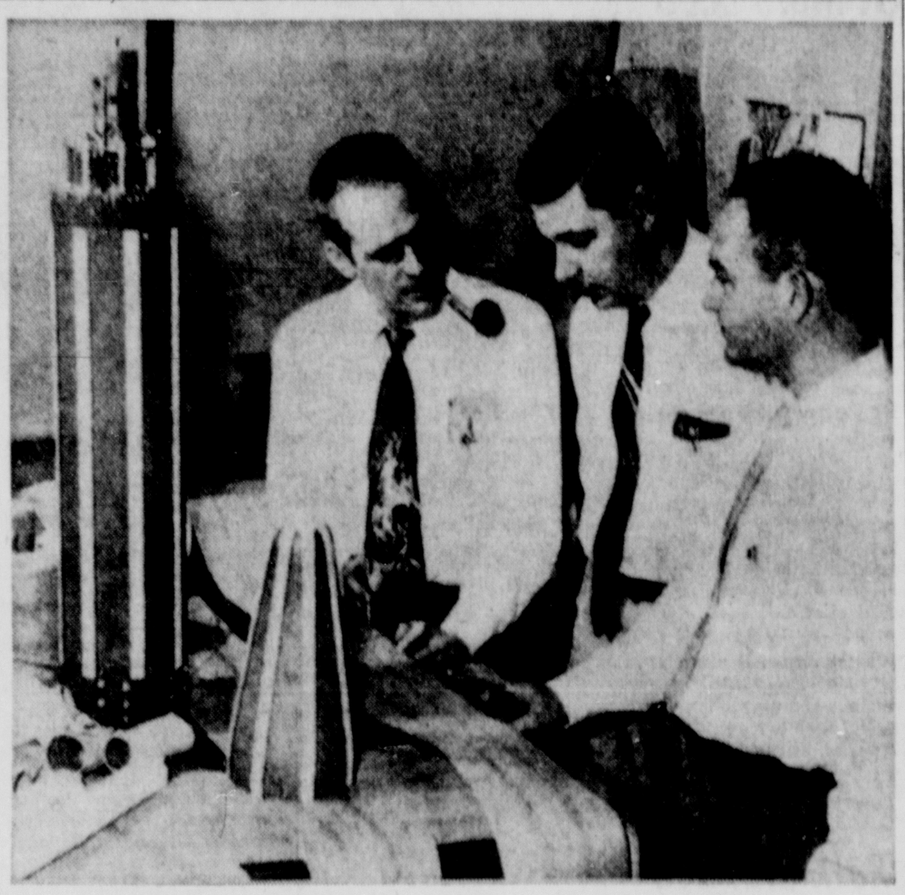
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Milton Berle will return to television with his own weekly half-hour comedy show next September, the National Broadcasting Co. said Thursday.



Unidentified Radiation Checked

Three University of Iowa physicists look over rolls of tape which tell one story of radiation in outer space as recorded by Explorers I and III. The tapes show phenomenally high counting rates of unidentified radiation in the far reaches of the two satellites' orbits. Dr. James Van Allen, Iowa physicist and an official of U. S. satellite program, reported this yesterday at a meeting of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington. At left is a spare of the instrumental section of Explorer I which George Ludwig (second from left) designed. Others are Ernest Ray (left) and Carl McIlwain. Ten inches of tape approximate 5,000 miles of instrumental travel in space.

Soviets Curtail Military Role In May Day Show

MOSCOW (AP)—A million Soviets bearing peace banners marched through Red Square Thursday behind Moscow's smallest and least bellicose May Day military display in years.

Unlike the lengthy demonstrations of weapons shown in the past, the military phase of the parade lasted only 15 minutes and apparently included no new arms. Nor was there the usual air force flypast.

The big guns and rockets of nuclear capability unveiled in last year's parade were missing. The military sampling consisted of paratroopers, antiaircraft guns, conventional rocket launchers on trucks and tracked carriers, field pieces and personnel carriers.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other top Soviet leaders shared their place of honor atop the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, visiting there.

Elsewhere, May Day celebrations took various turns:

LONDON — Mounted police charged a shouting crowd of demonstrators and made 16 arrests. The trouble began when a band of workers and a right-wing group sought use of a vacant lot near St. Pancras Borough Hall. Labor Leader John Lawrence's followers ran up Labor's red flag over the hall, and 200 students waving Union Jacks demanded that the Labor banner be brought down. Lawrence refused when police told him to take his followers elsewhere. Six policemen grabbed him, he struggled and mounted police charged in. Lawrence and 15 others were taken to a police station.

BONN — About 700 workers marched through the city in silent protest against atomic arms for West German troops. Defending the arms plan, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said his opponents are guilty of totalitarian thinking in opposing atomic arms for German soldiers.

VATICAN CITY — Pope Pius XII told workers that laborers should follow a Christian road to better working conditions.

$2.4 Billion In U.S. Tax Refunds Mailed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department, putting on extra speed to get refunds back to taxpayers, reported Thursday it had mailed $2,452,000,000 in income tax overpayments by April 24.

This was 35 per cent more than a year ago at the same date. Secretary of the Treasury Anderson predicted that substantially all refund checks will have been issued by mid-May, two weeks ahead of the normal target date.

Anderson had disclosed earlier that, because of the business recession, the Internal Revenue Service was under orders to hustle refunds back to persons who might need them because of layoffs or shortened work hours.

Racer "Throws" Steering Wheel; Driver Unhurt

SILVERSTONE, England (AP) — British racing driver Jack Fairman was driving a Jaguar racing car at 120 m.p.h. Thursday when the steering wheel came away in his hands.

The car knocked down a direction sign and crashed across open country before coming to a halt.

"I just braked hard and threw myself under the dashboard," said Fairman, 40, who climbed out unhurt.

Explorers Face Shorter Lives Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Explorer I, the first American satellite, is expected to stay aloft until some time in 1962—while its sidekick, Explorer III, is expected to plunge to its death in the upper atmosphere in several weeks.

This timetable was given Thursday by a scientist of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Dr. G. F. Schilling.

Indicaing that these were shorter lifetimes than originally estimated, Schilling said they are based on Smithsonian calculations that the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of 230 miles is 14 times more dense than was figured in presatellite days.

He also indicated that the cylindrical shape of the Explorer satellites tends to make their life shorter, as compared with a spherical-shaped satellite such as the Vanguard now aloft. The latter is expected to last 200 years or more.

The denser the atmosphere is, the more drag on the satellite as it comes within the earth's atmosphere on its round trips in space.

Mystery Rays Might Imperil Space Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Discovery of an unidentified form of radiation which might imperil space fliers was reported Thursday.

Scientists said that if the radiation is the kind they believe it is, an unprotected man would get as much radiation in two hours as he can safely tolerate over the span of a week. To guard him in any long-term flight would require 100 pounds of lead shielding per man.

The discovery was made during the present flights of the two Explorer satellites.

Project scientists said they feel highly confident the radiation—intense enough to cause cosmic ray counting instruments aboard the satellites to konk out at times—consists mostly of electrons in clouds of electrified hydrogen gas from the sun.

These electrons, striking the satellite, would generate X-rays which would constitute the direct hazard to an unprotected man.

The radiation striking the satellites is rated as 1,000 times more intense than cosmic rays.

Dr. James Van Allen of the University of Iowa, who reported the discovery, told reporters it's unlikely that cosmic rays, in themselves, constitute a biological hazard to man. But he indicated that the newly found radiation, if it's nature is what it's strongly believed to be, definitely would be such a hazard.

House Junks Demos' Plan By 223 To 165

Administration Bill Adopted 370 To 17 To End Hot Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the help of Southern Democratic conservatives, the Eisenhower administration Thursday won smashing House approval of its emergency unemployment relief program.

By a roll-call vote of 223-165 the House rejected a 1½-billion-dollar Democratic leadership plan, which critics called an outright dole in favor of a 600-million-dollar program backed by President Eisenhower.

It then voted 370-17 to adopt the Eisenhower plan and send it to the Senate.

On the crucial test to substitute the administration plan for the Democratic proposal, 60 Democrats joined 163 Republicans to outvote 148 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

Two Days Of Hot Debate

The substitution motion was made by a Democrat, Rep. Herlong of Florida, who said the GOP-administration bill would provide a temporary extension of jobless pay benefits "in a sound way, without making a complete mockery of the entire unemployment compensation program."

Herlong's move climaxed two days of heated debate during which the bill backed by Democratic leaders was denounced by Southern Democrats as well as by Republicans.

This bill, drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee, would have provided 16 weeks of jobless pay at state rates to virtually all unemployed, including those not covered by jobless insurance programs as well as covered workers who have exhausted their benefits. The federal government would have footed the bill.

Demo Plan Called Dole

The Democratic measure was denounced by opponents as a handout and a dole. Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va) called it "pure, unadulterated, undisguished, unabridged and unabashed socialism."

The administration bill adopted by the House would provide a 50 per cent extension of benefits but only to workers who have exhausted their rights under present federal-state programs. In most states this would mean a 13-week extension of payments.

The federal government would put up the money but would be repaid by the states after four years. State participation would be voluntary, and the program would expire April 1, 1959.

Allies Restudy Krupp Edict

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three have arranged to re-examine, their trust-busting orders against Alfried Krupp and other powerful German industrial barons, the British Foreign Office disclosed Tursday.

An American-British-French study has been scheduled on the personal initiative of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

International controversy seems sure to develop whatever decision is taken. If the Allies insist that Germany's huge iron, coal and steel empires be broken up, the Germans are likely to protest bitterly.

And if they scrap the Allied deconcentration of industry law of 1953—designed to smash the war-feeding power of Germany's industrial barons—it would be in the face of strong political resistance, at least in Britain and France.

A Foreign Office spokesman said West Germany has provided information to Britain and the other allies about the difficulties it says are being experience in breaking up several specific industries.

West Germany, under its agreements with the Allies, is bound to carry out the deconcentration law laid down during the postwar occupation of Germany. The issues involved are very tangled and the American-British-French talks are certain to be long.

The Western Big Three wanted to make sure that the power of such men as Krupp, whose industries fed German war machines in two world conflicts, should be broken forever.

Pate Says Reorganization Plan Threat To Marines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Randolph M. Pate attacked President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan Thursday as a potential threat to the life of the Marine Corps.

The President's proposal that laws spelling out the roles of each military service be repealed, Pate said, raises a real danger that under some future secretary of defense the Marines may be demoted from a fighting force to simply a ceremonial unit.

Pate is the Marine Corps commandant. His opposition to features of the reorganization bill was the most outspoken voiced by any Pentagon witness who has appeared so far before the House Armed Services Committee.

Approving Pate's stand, Rep. Hebert (D-La) told him he had delivered a death blow "to the unnecessary language in this bill."

At the same time the committee received assurances from Secretary of Defense McElroy that his department has no intention of making any sweeping realignment of the military services or their administration.

McElroy wrote the committee, in answer to questions the congressmen posed last week, that any merger of the services would be expressly forbidden by the proposed law.

"The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps retain their respective individualities," McElroy said.

Pate emphasized he does not believe those now in high office have any intention of reducing the Marine Corps to impotence if the reorganization goes through. But someday the corps could get the bum's rush, he said.

Coast Guard Halts Ketch Bound For A-Test Zone

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard intercepted the ketch Golden Rule Thursday and took it in tow a short time after it set sail from Honolulu in a defiant attempt to reach the U.S. nuclear test zone in the Pacific.

A Coast Guard cutter stopped the 30-foot sailing boat about 1½ miles off shore half an hour after its pacifist crew cast off despite a federal order forbidding it to leave.

The crewmen faced a charge of criminal contempt of court.

As the Golden Rule was being towed back to Honolulu Harbor, its skipper, former Navy Lt. Cmdr. Albert Smith Bigelow, related the shortlived voyage to the Associated Press by radiophone.

"We were about a mile and a half off shore when we were hailed by a Coast Guard cutter. We were asked to heave-to and we did," he said.

"An officer, who identified himself as Robert Hansen, said he had an order for our arrest and told us to accompany him. We said we could not do this and they atached a tow line and are now towing us in."

The arrest was based on a federal court order restraining the Golden Rule and its crew from leaving Honolulu and forbidding it to enter Eniwetok atoll in protest of nuclear bomb tests there.

Bigelow, who observed his 52nd birthday Thursday, and his three crewmen cast off from Honolulu less than an hour after federal Judge Jon Wiig ordered a temporary injunction halting the voyage.

The Golden Rule had been moored here by an earlier restraining order issued April 24.

Frondizi Takes Oath As Argentine Chief

Nixon Arrives Late; Crowd Hoots

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Arturo Frondizi took the oath as Argentina's president Thursday, warned the armed forces to keep out of politics, and pledged to govern by law. For 12 years this nation had been under dictatorship or military rule.

Vice President Nixon flew down as President Eisenhower's envoy at the swearing-in ceremony but missed it. His car was held up in traffic, he was late, and a small crowd hooted as he hurried into the Congressional Hall in time to hear the tall, 49-year-old lawyer launch an attack on U. S. trade policy in his inaugural address.

Without mentioning the United States by name, Frondizi called on Latin American nations to unite and "fight against discriminations against our countries and combat dumping." That was a reference to U. S. sales of farm surpluses abroad, a sore point in agricultural Argentina.

The left-of-center Radical party leader invited foreign capital to help develop petroleum resources. He drew the loudest applause from the joint session of Congress when he declared Argentina would call the shots in the oil industry. He said he himself would take personal charge of Argentina's oil monopoly.

Frondizi called for a program of austerity and sacrifice to meet the economic crisis, reflected by inflation and dwindling foreign exchange.

He announced that foreign policy will be based on "Latin American brotherhood" and placed himself on the side of the West. He said Argentina historically belongs to the Western cultural world and that its foreign policy would support "the rule of international morality."

On the home front, he promised a bill providing "ample and generous amnesty" to all political parties, including the outlawed Peronistas of ousted dictator John D. Peron. Leaflets demanding the return of Peron from exile circulated in the capital as the president spoke.

He referred to the 10-year Peron dictatorship and the 2½ years of provisional military government that followed.

Satellite Probe Of Mars Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shooting a 1½-ton seeing-eye satellite around Mars was suggested Thursday by the chief of the Air Force-Atomic Energy Commission Air Nuclear Propulsion Program, Maj. Gen. D. J. Keirn.

Keirn made plain in testimony to the House Space Committee, however, that much development work is still needed before such a venture is possible.

He said the first reactor in a program aimed at developing an atomic powered space ship will be ground tested in Nevada late this year near the nuclear bomb test site.

He tossed in the proposal for a reconnaissance probe of Mars — reputed haunt of little green in many a fiction story—as a possible first use of ion propulsion in space. The still-to-be developed ion engine would run on a high speed electron stream.

Keirn envisaged tossing a 3,000-pound reconnaissance satellite first into orbit around the earth with a more conventional rocket engine. Then the ion engine would take over, bringing the space ship into orbit around Mars in from 30 to 300 days depending on the engine's power.

6,000 Picked Students Given Space Briefing

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — When the first space ship is ready to blast off, there will be a passenger ready to go up in it.

This was the prediction Thursday of Maj. Gen. Donald Flickinger as he and almost a dozen other Air Force space experts told 6,000 picked teen-agers just what it would take to conquer space.

With all of the enthusiasm of a bop-hop on Saturday night, the top students of some 400 Oklahoma high schools pushed into Municipal Auditorium for a space age conference. And they saw exhibits, cutaway models and an actual Thor missile set up outside.

They heard a star-studded roster of scientists and industrialists background accomplishments in rockets and missiles and predict success in manned space travel.

The conference was sponsored by the Frontier of Science, an Oklahoma group interested in boosting science. The Air Force was eager to explain the space age.

"We're just like salesmen taking to the road to sell our product to the people" said Lt. Gen. Clarence S. Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff.

"We know it's these young people today who are going to reach other planets."

Irvine said he wasn't surprised at the enthusiasm of the jeans and jacketed youngsters listening to the technical jargon of the rocket age.

"Nobody ever really bothered in years past to tell 'em science was important and what their place in it will be."

Shark Grabbed By Tail Turns On Skindiver

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Skindiver Johnny Bower just wanted a nice underwater ride when he grabbed a five-foot shark by the tail.

But the fish turned around, bit him in the thigh and wouldn't let go.

A companion, Burt Williams, joined the drama in 30-foot water off Miami Beach Wednesday. He began holding the tail while Bower grabbed the gills.

Williams also fired a spear through the shark which held on until all three reached a boat. Men in the boat cut the shark away from Bower's thigh.

Bower, a Britisher, wasn't hurt. He said "only teeth marks to show for it, you know."

Benson Draws Aiken's Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. George Aiken (R-Vt) criticized Agriculture Secretary Benson Thursday for trying to reduce the nation's milk supply in the face of rising consumption.

For the first three months of 1958, Aiken said, milk production increased less than one-third as fast as the population of the country.

Yet, he said, on April 1 Benson cut the government price support on manufacturing milk—that used in milk products—in an effort to reduce the supply and thereby aid the price.

Aiken said he agreed with Benson that cutting the prices does contribute to a reduction in supply but he disagreed that a reduction is desirable.

The Vermont Republican noted that the Department of Agriculture on April 17 reported monthly purchases of fluid milk for February exceeded 1,300,000,000 quarts a gain of four per cent over February, 1957, and the highest level since April, 1954.

"It is quite apparent that the secretary of agriculture and his statisticians are somewhat at variance on the question of milk supply."

Aiken told some 150 milk producers attending the annual Northeastern Dairy Conference that although the cut in milk price supports was both unnecessary and unwarranted the effect is likely to be temporary—at least as far as producers for the fluid market are concerned.

Retail Sales Rise

Issue Taken With Hoover On TV Crime Programs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A television industry leader took issue Thursday with FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover on crime in TV programs.

Hoover in an editorial in the FBI Bulletin said the nation is threatened "with a flood of movies and television presentations which flaunt indecency and applaud lawlessness." He said they are an "affront to our national conscience" and connected them with outbreaks of juvenile violence.

President Harold E. Fellows of the National Assn. of Broadcasters, closing its convention here Thursday, replied in a formal statement:

"To the best of my knowledge, and that of the members of the there have never been released any authoritative studies, made by accepted scientific methods, supporting the contention that television contributes materially to juvenile delinquency.

"On the other hand, there have been many studies by educators, librarians and others showing that television is a constructive influence on our young people.

"The Television Code of the NAB admonishes against violence and indecency. We are constantly monitoring stations for adherence to Television Code provisions. Our research shows that programs presented by Television Code stations and networks reflect the national conscience."

Hagerstown City Council Target Of Judge's Blast

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A judge chastised the Hagerstown City Council Thursday for "intimidating and sandbagging" the voters by warning them their tax rate would go up unless they approved a bond issue.

Although he sided with the council in denying a taxpayer's suit for a declaratory decree to invalidate the council's expenditure of $900,000 for expansion of the city water plant, Judge D. K. McLaughlin noted that the city had declared its intentions to double the tax rate in the event the bond issue was defeated.

"The court takes judicial notice that this occurred," the judge said. "It is regretable that such irresponsible action took place. One of the counsel for the city deplored such conduct and stated it was silly and inexcusable.

"It can easily be understood why such intimidating and sandbagging practices would give concern and apprehension to the complainant."

Folies Bergeres Star Found With Wrist Cut

PARIS (AP)—Folies Bergeres star Yvonne Menard, 28, who was found semiconscious in her apartment with one wrist slashed, showed some improvement Thursday after blood transfusions.

Doctors said she was still in serious condition.

Friends said the singer and dancer had been despondent because of the Paris critics' sharp words about her latest revue.

Smithsonian Dickers For Hope Diamond

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution is negotiating to acquire the Hope diamond, fabulous 44½-carat stone once owned by the late Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington.

Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the institution, said Thursday discussions are under way with Harry Winston, a New York jeweler and the present owner.

Legend has it that the stone was filched from a Hindu temple, was once the property of French royalty and was given to Marie Antoinette by Louis XVI.

Rewards Offered For Dynamiters

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Rewards of $12,000 have been offered for apprehension of persons involved in racial dynamitings here and in Birmingham, Ala.

A Negro high school and Jewish synagogue were damaged at Jacksonville Monday. Rewards of $3,700 have been posted.

At Birmingham, rewards of $8,310 have been offered for apprehension of whoever put 54 sticks of dynamite beside Temple Beth-El. The fuse burned out a minute from the bag.

Court Rejects Kier's Appeal

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals has left Carl Daniel Kier with executive clemency as his major hope for escaping the gas chamber for the brutal slaying of a Baltimore County matron.

The high court Thursday upheld the second conviction of the 22-year-old Baltimore handyman for the first degree murder of Mrs. John H. Bopst Jr.

Mrs. Bopst was beaten and stabbed to death June 12, 1956, at her home on Charles Street Avenue. She was assaulted, beaten on the head and face and stabbed twice.

Kier's second conviction and death sentence came last Oct. 9 after the appeals court had ordered a retrial on his appeal from a guilty verdict and death sentence in his first trial, 13 months earlier.

The second trial was ordered on grounds and alleged confession should not have been admitted in evidence, and the retrial was moved from Baltimore County to Frederick County at Kier's request.

Javits Attacks, Johnston Defends Court Curb Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Javits (R-NY) Thursday attacked, and Sen. Olin Johnston (D-SC) upheld, a Senate Judiciary Committee bill that would undo several Supreme Court decisions relating to subversion and communism.

Johnston told the Senate the legislation was needed to defeat what he called a court grab for power.

"Judicial despotism is just as repugnant to free men as tyranny in any other form," he added.

Javits and three other senators joined in proposing a constitutional amendment to prevent Congress from depriving the court of any of its review powers.

Javits said it was being offered to counter what he called the court raiding bill approved 10-5 Wednesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

That bill would strip the court of its authority to hear appeals in one field and revise existing laws to undo the effects of some recent court decisions in cases involving subversive activities.

A prolonged and bitter battle is shaping up if it is called up for Senate action.

Javits told the Senate "A strong effort (is) being made to sow the seeds of destruction of the place which the judiciary holds in our delicate balance of powers." He said the bill amounts to a motion of censure of the Supreme Court.

Javits was joined by Sens. Hennings (D-Mo), Clark (D-Pa) and Langer (R-ND) in proposing a constitutional amendment directed at the part of the bill that would curb the Supreme Court's appellate jurisdiction.

Hammarskjold Action Raises Two Questions

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

For the first time a secretary general of the United Nations has appeared before the Security Council, in the role of spokesman for world opinion, to take sides on a direct issue between two great powers.

Observers of Dag Hammarskjold's regime, despite his addiction to quiet diplomacy, have been wondering if it might happen, and what might be the effect on his future if he did.

Hammarskjold's appearance Tuesday night was not a precedent in itself in the long-standing contention of both himself and Trygvie Lie, his predecessor, that the secretary general is more than merely an administrative officer. Lie appeared before the council in 1950 to denounce the Communists as aggressors in Korea. Hammarskjold spoke on the Egyptian question in 1956, and recently praised the Soviet suspension of atomic tests at a news conference.

But this is the first time the administrative officer has endorsed one specific resolution as opposed to another. He supported the United States proposal for international inspection in the Arctic as against the Soviet suggestion that the question be referred to the proposed summit conference.

The Soviet Union tried to cut Lie's throat after the Korean business, and he eventually resigned under the pressure. Their new attitude toward Hammarskjold has not yet been revealed.

Heretofore Hammarskjold has seemed to work on the theory that when he took any initiative, as he has a number of times, he not only needed the broad support of U.N. delegates, but must also avoid direct conflict with the United States or the Soviet Union.

His chief efforts have been as mediator, to keep negotiations open.

He is such an idealist that close observers doubted he was moved by any thought that the U.S. resolution would be another step, such as the U.N. Emergency Force, in enhancing the authority of the United Nations in keeping the peace. Nevertheless, he played an important role in the Middle East crisis of 1956 which established the precedent of a U.N. police force.

The U.S. resolution, although there appeared to be small chance of its adoption due to the Soviet reaction, would be a great extension of this precedent.

There were reports at the U.N. Tuesday that Hammarskjold had consulted the Soviet delegation prior to his action, in an effort to avoid what happened to Lie, but these reports were discounted by well-informed observers.

The action opened up two interesting questions.

How far can a dedicated and able diplomat go in making the office of secretary general one of world leadership?

How much public opinion can he mobilize, and how much effect can it have on deadlocked issues?

Missiles Chief Answers Kids' Moon Trip Queries

COMMACK, N.Y. (AP)—That field trip to the moon which a class of third-grade youngsters wants to take will have to be postponed a while. So Gen. J. B. Medaris has informed them.

But he'd be glad to have them as traveling companions, once things are shipshape.

The general, commander of the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal, Ala., and the school kids have carried on some correspondence about the matter, to the obvious relish of both.

It started when a class of 8- and 9-year-olds at Smiths Lane Public School, and their teacher Benedict Baron, wrote the general, saying they had no buses for science trips — so maybe they could hitch a rocket to the moon.

"Now this could be a real good field trip," the pupils wrote. "If you have any spare room, we would like to be the first third-grade class to go into orbit. There are 34 in our class, and some of the girls are scared, so all of us won't go."

Replying, Gen. Medaris said: "Were I planning such a trip now, I can think of no more pleasant companions than you daring adventurers." As for the girls' apprehensions, he added: "I frankly don't blame them."

Medaris wrote that he was delighted with the inquiry, however, particularly because of the very apt questions posed about space travel, and he complimented Baron for posting them so well.

Here, excerpted from the exchange, are some of the children's questions, and the general's answers:

The children: "Will we eat regular food or pellets?"

The general: To save "weight and space, we will probably carry some kind of concentrated foodstuffs. We'd certainly have to include milk in some form, perhaps cod liver oil, too."

The children: "Do we need lead shoes?"

The general: "We would be securely strapped down for a time. We might make good use of weighted footgear after we get there, but since we need to carry our environments with us, I suspect that we would be enclosed in pressurized space suits."

The children: "Will you write us an absence excuse?"

The general: "Even an Army general can't always arrange everything he'd like. Perhaps we should get your parents' consent first."

The children: "Can we send messages home?"

The general: "Yes, indeed."

The children: "We do not have much money for fare, but our teacher says that on science trips like this, the Army is very fair. He used to be in the Army."

The general: "Don't be concerned about fare. Mr. Baron is entirely right."

Short Course, Themes, Fall Tour Are Discussed

Reports of county chairmen, announcements and highlights of the Rural Women's Short Course were given at the executive board meeting of the County Council of Homemakers Clubs, held Wednesday at the Woman's Civic Club house. Mrs. Douglas Smith presided and conducted a short memorial service for members who died recently.

The board voted to keep a representative on the Youth Commission and support its activities, following a report by Mrs. Edward Shaffer, family life chairman, on the meeting she attended. Mrs. John S. Cook, international relations chairman, announced she has programs available for different clubs and personally will give them if desired. Mrs. Raymond Burkey announced the Homemakers Chorus will sing at the RWSC tea May 29 from 2 until 4 o'clock at the club house; and also at Frostburg Presbyterian Church, June 1 at 3 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Discussing the fair, Mrs. Arthur Phillips asked clubs to give suggestions for the theme for the fair theme booths; and for all clubs to make their preference known for a booth or demonstration as soon as possible.

Mrs. Austin Twigg was named delegate to the National Home Demonstration meeting in Wichita, Kans., October 12 through 16. Alternates are Mrs. T. E. Williamson and Mrs. William Rilling. Mrs. R. H. Aldridge was named chairman of the committee to plan the annual fall tour. Other members are Mrs. Irene MacDonald and Mrs. James R. Smith.

Guest speaker for the morning session was Mrs. Harvey Hill, state president of the Homemakers Clubs. She gave the highlights of the Short Course, which will be held June 16-21. The theme is "What Is That in Thine Hand?"

As begun last year, three class periods will be held and this year more assemblies and guest speakers will be added. Continuing having musical groups from the services, this year for the first time the Navy Sea Chanters will present a program. Mr. and Mrs. Romaine Smith will lead the singing. He is from the Progressive Farm magazine. New tours this year will be the health center at Bethesda, Bureau of Engraving, as well as the Capitol and a Cinerama movie.

The historical society tour for May 24 was announced by Miss Mary Wise. She also told of a judges training school May 26 at Westminster. Anyone wishing to attend is asked to call her right away. As program planning begins in May, she asked that new ideas be submitted.

Three pioneer women from this area were the topic of a talk by Harry I. Stegmaier, guest speaker in the afternoon. They were Indian Eve Ernst, from the Centerville area; Barbara Decker, Springfield, W. Va., and Jane Frazier, Wills Creek. All three were captured by the Indians and in each case spent long periods in captivity. He also showed how their lives tied in with the historical background of this area.

At noon, luncheon was served with Mrs. Herbert Nesbit, chairman. Her committee consisted of Mrs. Joseph Steger, Mrs. Franklin Kremer; Mrs. Arlie Borror, Mrs. R. T. Gibson, Mrs. Matthew Skidmore, Mrs. Ellen Diehl, Mrs. Charles Frost, Mrs. Edward Shaffer, Mrs. Burkey, Mrs. Paul Gilford, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. William Flora and the county hospitality chairmen, Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. George A. Mrs. Peck also served as toastmaster for the luncheon, and on behalf of the auxiliary, thanked Mrs. Saeli for her work as first vice president and through the past seven years as chairman of various committees. A silver dish was presented to the honor guest by the group, and the individual members held a handkerchief and card shower for her. Opening with prayer, the program consisted of the group singing "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Saeli, led by Mrs. Phillip Natale, who also sang a solo "The Desert Song." Recognition also was paid to Mrs. Peter Decker, who observed her 50th wedding anniversary Sunday. The "Anniversary Song" was sung with Mrs. DeSales Glick at the piano. Nazi Gestapo Planned British Terror Reign

LONDON (AP) — Hitler's Gestapo would have gripped Britain in a regime of terror if the German plan to invade in 1940 had succeeded, says a British historian.

In his book "Operation Sea Lion," published Wednesday, Ronald Wheatley said even the Boy Scouts were on the Gestapo list as "an excellent source of information . . ."

"Sea Lion" was the German code name for the invasion that never came. Wheatley, as an official British historian, had access to all captured German papers.

Wheatley says the Nazis had a secret list of 2,700 prominent persons to be dealt with in Britain—ranging from Winston Churchill and French Gen. Charles de Gaulle to the late novelists H. G. Wells and Virginia Woolf.

Tea Sobers Drunk

LA RIOJA, Argentina (AP) — Chemist Matias Paczkowski reports experiments of his biological laboratory show tea brewed from the leaves of a plant known locally as bull's shadow can make a drunk stone sober in 10 minutes. The scientific name of the plant, he said, is maytenus ilicifolia mart.

So much can be packed into three minutes — If it's used in the interests of developing charm.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Three Minutes To Spare

Three minutes may be a long time when it's the margin by which you miss a train. But does it seem any time at all if spending it well helps your charm to grow?

I can think of so many pleasant, praiseworthy but casual-seeming things that can be done in three minutes, and so can you. To start, how about more than a quick hello next time to the newcomer in the office? Stop briefly on your merry way and inquire about how she's doing and be sincerely interested in the answer you get, offer a few encouraging words. You may be astonished at how much this small attention is appreciated.

And it may be high time now to say more than a perfunctory thank you to someone who consistently serves you well, a waiter, perhaps, a salesperson or the post man. One or two genuinely appreciative sentences may hit just the right note, and both of you will feel it's a happier day.

The shy person is grateful indeed for any effort on your part to make him feel at ease, and it may take very little to do it. Anyone in a bewildering or an awkward position is thankful for your trouble if you can set him straight, especially if others are uncaring. You'll be remembered for an extra three minutes of patience when everyone else is in a flurry of hurry, for the extra pains you take in doing the small job a little better.

Charm is made up of some of the biggest things in personality—kindness, understanding and high standards in all things—and often only a very little extra time makes these show.

YOUR COLOR TYPE. Here's your personal colorscope, scientifically designed to determine just what colors keep you looking complexion-perfect and charming of dress. A copy of my all-new booklet "Your Color Type" is on its way to you for 25c and a stamped, return envelope sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

When a surveying party tried to map a Tuscarora reservation near Niagara Falls, a skirmish broke out between a band of Indians and the palefaces. The latter should have remembered to bring along a peace pipe.

Prisoner Smuggles Gun Into Baltimore City Jail

Escape Attempt Apparently Thwarted

BALTIMORE (AP) — Law officers were trying to find out Thursday how a federal prisoner managed to smuggle a loaded pistol into the Baltimore City Jail.

Anne Arundel County police who arrested the man said he was clean when they picked him up.

The FBI said it at no time had physical custody of the man.

U.S. Marshall Gerald Bracken, whose men had custody of him for a time, was not immediately available for comment.

Jail Warden Charles Price said guards found a holster strapped to the leg of Arthur Stephenson Jr., 32, of Newark, N. J. and a further search turned up a .38 caliber revolver stashed in a nearby cell.

Price said an escape attempt apparently was foiled when the gun was found.

"We learned that two other federal prisoners and a third prisoner awaiting state court action were planning to escape with Stephenson," Price said.

Anne Arundel County police picked up Stephenson with a girl in an allegedly stolen car Tuesday. The FBI said it obtained a warrant and turned it over to the marshal's office for service on the prisoner.

Stephenson was discovered with a gun holster strapped to his leg Wednesday after his return to jail by deputy marshals for the second time in less than six hours.

Price said Stephenson at first said he had hidden the pistol under a washstand in the U. S. marshal's lockup in the Post Office Building Tuesday and retrieved it almost 24 hours later on his second return trip in company of deputy marshals.

Under questioning Thursday, Price said, Stephenson said he had the weapon secreted in another place. Price declined to divulge the location.

Price said the prisoner was searched when he first entered the jail Tuesday, and on each of two subsequent trips from and to the jail.

When he was brought back Thursday afternoon, Price said "we were in the midst of a heavy visiting period and everybody was busy. Somehow he momentarily slipped unnoticed into a cell in the area and managed to secret the gun before being subjected to the usual search.

"But the guard got to him before he would remove the holster. When it was found an immediate search of the entire cell area was instituted and the loaded pistol was discovered.

Train Hits Truck; 2 Brothers Hurt

FRUITLAND, Md. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Railroad freight struck a car at a crossing north of here Thursday injuring two Fruitland brothers.

Leadly Cray, 35, the driver, was treated for minor injuries at a Salisbury hospital and released. His 19-year-old brother Gene Cray suffered a possible fractured pelvis and other injuries.

State Police identified the train engineer as Clarence Brown, 65, of Delmar, Del.

Three Officers Jailed In Thefts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three Baltimore policemen were held in jail Thursday in default of bail on charges of committing nine burglaries while on duty.

The trio is accused of stealing more than $7,000 in cash and merchandise while on 4 p.m. to midnight shifts.

Being held are Marvin Bridgeman, 28, appointed to the force in October, 1952; Herbert W. Brazier Jr., a patrolman since February, 1956, and Michael Molloy, 35, who observed his fifth anniversary as a law officer Thursday.

Bail for Bridgeman and Molloy was set at $12,500 each and $20,000 for Brazier.

"You are a disgrace to your families, to the community in which you live and, even more important, to the uniform of the Baltimore City Police Department," Magistrate James F. Fanseen told the trio.

They made no comment at the hearing. Photographers were forbidden to take their picture and Commissioner James M. Hepbron refused to give out department photos of them.

The three patrolmen were watched and arrested after another member of the force reported to superiors he saw one of them acting suspiciously on his beat.

Harbor Tunnel Lane-Switching Plan Suggested

BALTIMORE (AP) — The chief of Maryland toll facilities said Thursday it may be necessary to reverse one of the two southbound lanes of the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel to handle the return of weekend vacationers on Sunday nights.

Louis J. O'Donnell said traffic counts indicate that from 65 to 75 per cent of all cars using the tunnel on Sundays between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. are northbound into Baltimore from the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland beaches.

This creates a jam in the northbound two-lane tube but leaves the two southbound lanes relatively free of cars.

O'Donnell said the figures are based only on the past two Sundays and he warned against hasty conclusions. But the weekend exodus from the city and the sudden return on Sunday evenings can be expected to increase.

If the traffic pattern persists, O'Donnell said, it may be necessary to use one of the two southbound lanes to supplement the two lanes in the northbound tube. That would leave one lane to handle the light southbound traffic on Sunday evenings.

It's even possible that the reverse would be necessary—three southbound lanes—on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings although O'Donnell did not comment on this.

O'Donnell said there would be no difficulty in channeling northbound cars over to the third lane at the Fairfield, or south end of the tunnel, because the toll plaza on that side is large enough to take care of the lane switching.

But the major problem would be on the Canton, or northern end of the tunnel, where traffic comes out directly into the northbound lanes of the access highway leading to U.S.40. A car leaving a converted lane of the southbound tube in a northerly direction on the Canton side would currently find it impossible to cross over the concrete median curb separating the lanes.

If the lane-switching becomes necessary, O'Donnell said, it may be necessary to remove part of the concrete divider.

Further study of the traffic patterns will be necessary before any decision is reached.

Salisbury State Queen

SALISBURY (AP) — Nancy Lee Horsman, a senior student from Benedict, Charles County, was crowned queen of the May at Salisbury State Teachers College today by Dr. Wilbur Devilbiss, college president.

He was escorted during the ceremonies by Eugene Carstens of Berlin, a sophomore.

This portion of the wing will serve as major fuel tanks for the bomber. Immediately beyond this wing can be seen second wing section which is in process of being joined and sealed. (AP Photofax)

Antietam Battlefield Expansion Favored

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Washington County Commissioners Thursday informed Rep. DeWitt Hyde (R-Md) they are in favor of the federal government acquiring 2,000 acres to expand Antietam Battlefield so long as the county receives payments in lieu of taxes.

Congressman Hyde had asked the commissioners for their position on a proposal now being considered by the Department of Interior. The department has indicated that some of the land not immediately used would be leased to individuals.

The commissioners said the 15 farms involved represent $500,000 worth of tax revenues annual to the county. If some of the land is to be leased to individuals by the government, the county wants to receive the rents in lieu of the taxes it will be losing on the property.

One Of Four Eligible For Postmastership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Service Commission announced Thursday William Francis Laukaitus is the only one of four applicants eligible for appointment by President Eisenhower as Baltimore postmaster.

Laukaitis now is acting postmaster under a temporary appointment. Eisenhower could nominate him for the job, subject to Senate confirmation, unless the commission is asked to conduct another examination of applicants.

The Post Office Department could ask for another examination since the first didn't result in designation of three eligibles from which a choice could be made.

Israeli Anniversary Stirs Embers Of Heritage

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

Haunting echoes of an old and powerful epic resound today in Israel.

There, heartbeats swell anew to the ancient spell of "The Promised Land."

To Jews everywhere, as well as to others, the observance of the 10th anniversary of the restored nation, stirs the embers of a heritage.

It's a deep-rooted passion, implanted long ago when Jacob pillowed his head on a stone at Bethel, and dreamed of a ladder to heaven from which the Lord spoke: "behold. . .the land whereon thou liest, to thee will I give it, and to thy seed."

From that distant moment, perhaps 5,000 years ago, through the whiplash tides of modern history, that covenant has lingered in minds and emotions.

The long story is often a terrifying one, of exile, persecutions, massacres, ghettos and homeless wandering, but the hope burned on.

Inscribed deep in the consciences and traditions of a people was the divine pledge of this "land for an inheritance." And now, they possess it.

Today, nearly two million of the world's 12 million Jews live in Israel. After 20 centuries of rootlessness, they occupy the land "of our fathers." Although foes still beset them, they have their home again.

The pulsing theme of the Old Testament hovers over that land, that 8,000-square-mile stretch of coastal hills and valleys, and it is for that land that its indigenous tribes fought, again and again.

After they were herded into Egyptian slavery, on their escape across the Red Sea, they again turned toward that ancestral objective: "And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people. . .and have heard their cry. . .and I am come down to deliver them. . .and bring them . . .unto a land flowing with milk and honey."

Remote and far away that moment, more than 3,000 years ago, yet unforgotten. Nor has the picture faded of old Moses as he stood on Mount Nebo gazing into the land of his people's destiny, hearing the Lord's words: "I have caused thee to see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not go thither."

He died there on the mountain at the age of 120, and his successor, Joshua, took up the immemorial task—the winning of the land. So the walls of Jericho came tumbling down, and the armies of 31 kings fled before the might of Israel.

This was their land, and in it unfolded the heroic tales of the great biblical figures—of the valiant Saul dying on the battlefield, of the mighty Samson wielding a jawbone and pulling down the gates of Gaza, of brave David felling a giant with a shot from his sling—to defend the land.

There, the wise King Solomon ruled and built his temple. There the great prophets, Elijah, Isaiah and Jeremiah, thundered. And there was wrought the record of goodness and wickedness, success and defeat.

The inner strength of Israel waxed and waned. Time after time, they were beaten, captured and scattered—by the Assyrians, Babylonians and others—only to push again into their land.

Finally, in 70 A.D., the hard fist of Rome crashed down on Israel, and the nation was no more. Her children were driven hither and yon across the earth.

Waves of Jewish oppression have sullied the years since, reaching a height in the crusades of the Middle Ages, and continuing in various degrees into the present era.

In country after country in Europe, Jews were expelled. Hundreds of thousands were slain. They fled from place to place, confined to ghettos, barred from most occupations except petty trading, prohibited from owning land.

With the French and American revolutions in the 18th century the tide changed, and they won back civil rights in most countries, but the horrors of old arose anew in Hitler's time, only to abate at the end of the last war.

And then, Israel regained its kingdom.

Wetter Than Normal May Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The weather bureau said Wednesday it expects the month of May to bring more rainfall than normal except along the Pacific and Gulf coasts and in the northern plains.

The bureau said:

"The weather bureau's 30-day outlook for May calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern half of the nation lying between the Rockies and the Appalachians. Above normal temperatures are indicated in West Coast, Gulf and Atlantic states as well as New England. In unspecified areas near normal temperatures are anticipated. Large week-to-week fluctuations are indicated over most areas."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman said Wednesday the Defense Department would not object to Soviet launching of seeing-eye satellites that could spot objects in the United States.

This statement by Dep. Secretary Donald A. Quarles took by surprise some members of the House Space Committee who had previously heard testimony from officers expressing fears about Soviet satellites.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) noted one previous prediction that a satellite with a 40-inch telescope could see objects smaller than two feet from 500 miles away.

Quarles said he was giving the Defense Department view, not necessarily that of the State Department, about a foreign reconnaissance satellite.

"We would consider," he said, "that it was inoffensive in the sense that it was in outer space and could do us no harm, and we would not object to it."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, May 1—(INS)—"Eisenhower Fluchte Ungeriert!" looked like a pretty ominous headline when we noticed it one day last week in Dusseldorf. (Ed. note: Place-dropper).

The newspaper was the usually pro-American "Die Welt." So we took the matter to Serge Fliegers, dean of International News Service school of languages. He gave us an illuminating but strictly literal translation of the article. It turned out to be a sports piece by the paper's Washington correspondent, a Herr R. R. The headline meant "Eisenhower Swore Unembarrassedly!" The text follows:

"Eisenhower wore a light sweater under his sports jacket. He kept his broad rimmed hat on the head as he the first ball into the field threw, the first ball with which the President the new American baseball season opened.

"Players and club managers stood smiling near and behind him and the whole scene found itself under the constant control of secret police (when the President to the baseball goes, even secret policemen as umpires are put along the lines. This happened in Washington recently).

"Baseball has the President these days given a lot of joy, yes, even satisfaction. It has itself for the first time been confirmed that the President a good eye for young baseball talent possesses. The Pittsburgh Piraten, a famed baseball profit club, have taken a young colored named Preston Bruce. Intermediary in the contract conclusion between the Piraten and the young Bruce was no one else but President Eisenhower personally.

"Mr. Rickey, president of the baseballklub had, at an official eating, from the President the recommendation received to himself the young player to assure. This information reported Eisenhower's press secretary James Hagerty has the President with great satisfaction to knowledge taken. To this one must know: Eisenhower is a possessed-by-ghosts baseball onhanger, (Ed. note: Fan) although he this game only relatively a short while personally played has. In his second year as West Point cadet, pulled to himself Eisenhower at the football game a knee injury which him to the upgiving of both games was forced. For this has Eisenhower on a different level proved that he to the most sports-joyous of all states super chiefs of the world belongs.

"Especially, he is a passionate and dedicated golf player, and he has just now in this sport which him for decades everywhere accompanied has, despite his three heavy illnesses, never the desire lost.

" 'Golf is brilliant', has Eisenhower's doctor Snyder the President advised. 'But he must not over every mistake become upset and already never about this curse.

" 'Better it would be himself also over his mistakes to amuse'.

"It was on the golf course of Thomasville, Georgia, as Eisenhower for the first time according to this prescription played," Die Welt's man continued.

"The first both balls fired he, however, from the first tee into the woods, which means into the rough. The President looked dark. As for him, also on the third tee the drive failed, cursed he unembarrassedly, as in the old time.

"But then the smile and look here: The fourth ball was in order."

Pilot William Donahue, a fine broth of a bye, brought St. Patrick, the big series-H Constellation of Irish Airlines, down through the milky overcast (after two hours of tense circling) and hit the blanketed Idlewild Airport runway right on the button. Seventy passengers making the inaugural flight spontaneously applauded.

In the silence that followed, and as the plane waddled toward the ramp, Donahue's voice came on the pipe.

"Well," he said, in one of the great understatements of aviation history, "we made it.

"And with plenty of gas," he added, proudly.

Building Figures For City Up

Building permit figures for Cumberland climbed over the half million dollar mark for the second straight month in April, a report by the building engineer shows yesterday.

And the cumulative total for the first four months has surpassed that for the entire year of 1957.

Twenty-five permits were issued this month with an estimated value of $585,985. The total included 19 for new construction, five for additions and improvements and one for moving a dwelling. Largest single item in the report was for $500,000 for the new St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Nine new residences accounted for another $64,000.

Last month's permit valuation was $526,800 including a $500,000 item for an addition to Allegany High School.

This month's building activity brought the total for the year to $1,401,985. This compared to $1,023,752 recorded for the entire 1957 year. At this time a year ago, the cumulative total was $200,466.

SS. Peter And Paul To Have Evening Mass

A 6 p. m. mass will be held today in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, the first of a series of first Friday masses, Rev. Marius J. Elsener, OFM, Cap., pastor announced.

Permission for the evening masses was given by the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, archbishop of Baltimore.

Russian observers are reportedly attending hearings of a congressional committee on outer space. Apparently, suggests Aitch Kay, the Muscovites want to be unreal real estate dealers, too.

Importance Of Route 40 Emphasized At Meeting

Restoration of U. S. Route 40 to the role it once held as the nation's most important highway was the theme of the enthusiastic meeting of the U. S. 40 Association here Wednesday night.

Approximately 75 members and guests from Maryland and Pennsylvania attended the session in the Cumberland Brewery social quarters.

One of the highlights of the evening was a telegram from Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, giving optimistic assurance to the association's final goal—a first class highway for Route 40.

Bonnell stated:

"The Maryland State Roads Commission is committed to a program of complete modernization of U. S. 40, and is in the process now of pushing this work to early completion east of Cumberland.

"U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall is working closely with us in all federal aspects, and is urging Pennsylvania representatives to work with Maryland to the end that the National Pike again take its place as one of the country's best highways.

"What has been done in the past two years should be assurance of the active interest of the Maryland State Roads Commission in the continuing improvement of U. S. 40."

John L. Towler, Cumberland, was master of ceremonies, and a message was read from one of the scheduled speakers, J. William Hunt, former Sunday Times editor, who has been one of the prime backers of the Route 40 movement. Hunt was unable to attend.

Hunt's message said:

"Most of you understand, of course, that there are two separate prospects for the modernization of Route 40.

"One is to include the road in the Interstate System, in which case it will become a non-access highway and 'out-of-bounds' for most of the business establishments now fronting on its right-of-way.

"The second prospect is for U. S. 40 to be modernized by Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and other states through the various state roads commissions so that accessibility will be maintained.

"For many years (long before this U. S. 40 Association was formed) I have been advocating in The Cumberland Evening and Sunday Times the continuance of this old National Pike as the premier highway of the United States.

"Since the first contract was let 147 years ago next week (the date was May 8, 1811) the Cumberland Road, now U. S. 40, has been the Main Street of North America. Completed and opened to Wheeling on the Ohio in 1818, this road should be maintained for many, many reasons as the first highway of this nation.

"Over its surface rode and tramped the pioneers who settled the great Ohio country, the middle west. It was a life line never equalled by any other road — and by the great Jehovah (as Ethan Allen swore in the War for Independence) we are not going to stand idly by and see it deteriorate into a second class thoroughfare!"

"I pledge my continued efforts as a writer and booster for the modernization of U. S. 40 and urge your Association to continue its activity along the lines used so effectively in the past few years.

"Progress is being made, indeed, much has been accomplished. We are fortunate to have such a progressive and competent State Roads Commission as we have in Maryland, and no matter how much neglect prevailed in the previous commissions, the present commission in its three years of existence has really accomplished wonders."

Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the State Department of Public Information, spoke on the activities of the Maryland Travel Council in promoting Route 40.

Efforts of the Uniontown Chamber of Commerce in improving Route 40 through that section were listed by the chamber's secretary, Thomas Bundy.

Also speaking in behalf of the Pennsylvania campaign was James Dunn, manager of the AAA Club at Uniontown.

Earl E. Manges, attorney for the association, told of the group's efforts in the General Assembly this year in promoting the work schedule on Route 40 between Hancock and Cumberland.

Entertainment was provided by Karl Dulany, operator of Dulany's, restaurant near Uniontown.

Edward Habeeb, local member of the association, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Those at the meeting also heard an account of a history of the National Highway.

One of the speakers, William C. Walsh, local attorney and former attorney general, pointed out that the highway was the first road constructed by the federal government.

Through a law passed in Congress in 1806 and signed by President Thomas Jefferson, $30,000 was appropriated for surveying and outlining a road connecting Cumberland with Wheeling.

This was to connect the Ohio country with the Potomac Tidewater on the theory that the Potomac River was navigable as far as Cumberland.

However, this theory was only a figment of the imagination, as the river was not usable at many times, Walsh said.

The National Road, completed in 1818, was the beginning of the "good road movement" in the United States, and was the first work of internal improvement.

Cumberland and Baltimore were connected by various turnpike companies chartered by the Maryland Legislature to link the National Road with the state's largest city.

For instance, he said, a stretch of the road in the Conococheague Creek section west of Hagerstown was known as "The Bank Road," as its construction had been financed by various banks in Hagerstown and Baltimore.

As early as 1858 the Maryland General Assembly passed a bill for constructing a road between Fort Frederick and Fort Cumberland, Walsh said.

And the costs in those days were quite different from those today. The speaker noted that old records reveal that it cost $12 to build eight and one-half miles between Licking Creek and Prake's Creek.

Sixty dollars was appropriated to build a bridge over Sideling Hill Creek.

The construction of four miles of road from Sideling Hill Mountain to Fifteen-Mile Creek cost $22.

U.S. Satellite Box Score

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Here is a rundown on the U. S. rocket satellite program to date:

Navy Vanguard project — Four tests have been made of the composite three-stage rocket:

Dec. 6, 1957—Failed when rocket lifted several feet off pad but lost thrust, toppled over and burned.

The Navy announced the cause "mechanical failure in the propulsion system, details of which are classified."

Feb. 5, 1958—After successful launching and about 57 seconds of flight, a connection between units of the first stage control system failed to function. Rocket broke apart at 20,000 feet.

March 17—A 6.4-inch ball satellite was fired into orbit successfully.

April 28—Rocket launched, but plunged into sea 1,500 miles down the test range when the third stage failed to ignite. Cause attributed to wire trouble which interrupted firing sequence.

Army explorer project (three tests)

Explorer I—Launched satellite into orbit Jan. 31.

Explorer II—Successful takeoff March 5, but failed to reach orbit when final stage failed to produce thrust. Exact cause unknown.

Explorer III — Propelled cylindrical satellite into orbit March 26.

County Orders 1,000 Cards For Civil Defense

Some 1,000 wallet-sized cards which summarize civil defense preparedness for the individual have been ordered by William G. Barger, Allegany County civil defense director, for distribution to interested persons in this county.

Mr. Barger said he expects them before the Operation Alert scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Interest in these civil defense preparedness cards snowballed recently after Federal Civil Defense Administrator Leo A. Hoegh appeared briefly on a national television show. The administrator showed one of the cards and said that anyone interested could obtain one from FCDA National Headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich.

Within a few days, more than 1,900 requests from individuals had been received in Battle Creek — which had no cards available because only the samples had been printed for the administrator.

The presses rolled immediately, however, and have kept rolling because as requests began to pour into state and local civil defense offices, the cards snowballed to 12,751,000 at the end of two weeks.

Here's the advice on the card:

Prepare:

Your family shelter and equip with two-week supply of food and water, first aid kit, battery radio. Evacuation kit for your automobile with food, water, first aid kit, battery or car radio, blankets.

Learn:

1. Warning signals and what they mean; 2. Your community plan for emergency action; 3. Protection from radioactive fallout; 4. First aid and home emergency preparedness; 5. Use of Conelrad — 640 or 1240 for official directions.

Driver Hurt When Brakes Fail On Truck

A tractor-trailer loaded with a cargo of rice plunged from U. S. Route 40 on the east slope of Town Hill Mountain yesterday and wrecked.

The crash caused injuries to Richard A. Jones, 40, Memphis, Tenn., who was treated at Berkeley Springs War Memorial Hospital for a fractured arm and contusions about the body.

Jones was driving the huge rig down the mountain when his brakes failed. He turned the vehicle toward the side of the road and then leaped to the highway.

The tractor-trailer veered along the berm of the highway for 90 feet, hit a section of guard rails and tore out five of them. Then the machine continued another 40 feet along the berm and finally crashed over an embankment. The tractor-trailer upset and skidded 100 feet before coming to a stop in a timbered section off the road.

The tractor-trailer was demolished. A wrecker was sent to the scene and a path had to be scraped out so that a smaller truck could be driven near the trailer section of the rig in order to unload the rice cargo.

Trooper K. W. Messmer said the crash occurred about 7:30 a. m. Jones was headed east when the mishap took place.

Members of the local organization will discuss the course when they meet next Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Cumberland Hose House.

The final building permit issued for Election District 29, LaVale, before the new LaVale zoning regulations were placed in effect at midnight Wednesday was obtained by Lewis J. Ort.

Mr. Ort obtained the permit to build a 16-by-59-foot brick addition to his residence at 382 National Highway, just west of the Cash Valley Road. He got the permit from the Allegany County assessing department. The estimated cost was $2,000.

Under the zoning regulations, all building permits issued for construction in Election District 29 in the future must be issued by the LaVale Zoning Board and a fee of $2 per $1,000 of declared construction cost will be charged. The assessing department makes no charges for building permits.

Magistrates Hold Law Program For Students

A National Law Day program held yesterday morning by Allegany County magistrates for public and parochial students lacked only one item—a trial.

The program called for a demonstration hearing, preferably on a motor vehicle charge.

But Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said there was not a single traffic case to be tried, in spite of the fact that magistrates had asked city and state police about a week ago to try to schedule a case as part of the observance.

He added there was not even a forfeit to be disposed of during the program attended by some 50 area students.

Magistrate Dick, who presided as president of the Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland, reported that the first annual observance of National Law Day was proclaimed by President Eisenhower as a means of strengthening dedication to the rule of law as the foundation of free society, and to freshen every American citizen's awareness of the rights and privileges he enjoys by reason of our system of laws and courts.

Represented at the program were officials of the State's Attorney's office, State Police, City Police and Allegany County Bar Association.

State's Attorney James S. Getty spoke on the constitutional guarantees of individual rights which are a basic part of the American legal system.

He cited cases which drew national attention because of the extreme precautions taken by the courts to make certain that an individual's rights were not infringed.

James A. Avirett, who represented the bar association, pointed out the contrast of Law Day in the United States to the May Day observances in Russia and other portions of the world where rule is by force.

Avirett emphasized that the most important in the United States are the lower courts since they are the ones most frequently used in the administration of justice for citizens. Allegany County, he stated, is fortunate in having its courts staffed by men who are interested in seeing justice administered fairly.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, said the State's Attorney's office is directly linked to the moral health and safety of the county, and that justice is the primary objective of the office he represents.

Teamwork, he continued, is needed between that office, police, probation officers, judges and magistrates to insure that the American policy of government is carried out fairly and with justice. The State's Attorney's office, Mason stated, must be fair and impartial, but unrelenting in the prosecution of crime.

Justice cannot be reached by any mathematical formula, Mason said, adding that such an objective can only be attained by due process of law.

Magistrate Morris Baron informed the students that the American system of laws is based on the heritage of human dignity left by the founders of this country. The United States, he said, is a government of law, not of men.

The magistrate quoted a statement of former Chief Justice Charles Evan Hughes, who said "United States law is an expression of the culture of its people, limited and governed by experience."

A great advantage of the U. S. law system, Baron pointed out, is that the state is directly limited by it, in direct contrast to the divine rights of kings. "Our system of law," he continued, "is based on tact, understanding, tolerance and humanity."

Invocation and benediction were by Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, and Rev. Arthur W. Bastress, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Also participating in the program was Magistrate Dayton Lewis of Oldtown.

Truck Association Elects Officers

Robert F. Moore, manager of the Central Trucking Division, Celanese Corporation of America, was elected first vice president of the Western Maryland Chapter of the Maryland Motor Truck Association at a dinner meeting recently at the Tortuga Restaurant in Hagerstown.

Other officers are James R. Hahn, New Market, of Hahn Petroleum Carriers, president; J. R. Shingleton, Hagerstown Motor Express Company, second vice president; Maurice R. Domenici, Hagerstown, of Domenici Tire Company.

The new officers will be installed May 20 at a meeting in Cumberland.

The association voted to purchase a driver training unit to be used at Frederick High School in conjunction with the school's driver-training program. Similar units were bought for schools in Cumberland, Oakland and Hagerstown.

Attending the meeting were Lew W. Higgins, president of the Maryland Motor Truck Association, and Thomas E. Widerman, general manager of the association.

Cost Of Atomic Shelter Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of an atomic shelter program for the nation was estimated Wednesday at from 22 billion to 115 billion dollars, depending on the type.

The figures were given to a ouse Government Operations subcommittee by Luke Vortman, of the Sandia Corp., Albuquerque, N.M., a contract agency under the Atomic Energy Commission.

Vortman emphasized that his figures were based on a lot of assumptions, estimates and averages. He said they would exclude land and equipment costs.

The subcommittee is holding hearings to examine technical data developed in atomic shelter tests conducted in Nevada during the past year.

'Mrs. Maryland' Flies To Florida Finals

Mrs. Colleen Lapp, who was named "Mrs. Maryland" in the contest several weeks ago in which top Maryland homemakers took part, flew from Pittsburgh to Florida yesterday to take part in the national finals at Fort Lauderdale.

She was accompanied by her husband, Raymond Lapp, who is a plumbing contractor. Mrs. Lapp is a registered nurse and a graduate of the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing.

Wednesday, the couple left here via the B&O Railroad for Pittsburgh where they stayed overnight. Yesterday, a motorcade took Mrs. Lapp and the "Mrs. West Virginia" and "Mrs. Pennsylvania" winners to the Pittsburgh Airport where they emplaned for Florida.

Guy Liller, district promotion manager for the C&A Gas Company, which sponsored the contest, saw the couple off at the Queen City Station. Also in the party which gave a sendoff to the couple was Mrs. Edward Mullan Jr., president of the Cumberland Jayncees, the organization which sponsored Mrs. Lapp in the local and state finals.

Mrs. Lapp has blue eyes and blonde hair. She is the mother of two daughters.

The oldest member of the group is Mrs. West Virginia at 42. She is Mrs. H. Paige Bell, wife of a Parkersburg attorney. The youngest is 22-year-old Mrs. Maine. The average age is 30.

By the way, 90 per cent of the finalists admitted they have spanked their children at one time or another.

How Much Ocean Can We Control?

Who says our State Department never budges from its traditional position? For 165 years it insisted on three nautical miles as the distance from coasts over which a nation could claim sovereignty. Now, at a conference of 86 nations at Geneva on Territorial waters, the United States has accepted six miles as the limit.

But the concession failed to evoke a comparable one from the Russians. They still insisted on 12 miles.

The Kremlin likes 12 miles because, for one thing, this enables it in effect to make a Russian lake of the Baltic Sea, also to put economic pressure on Japan by restricting Japanese fishermen. Then, too, in taking this stand, the Kremlin can pose as the supporter of small nations. Most of these feel that 12 miles helps to preserve their fishing grounds for their own nationals.

Recognizing the force of this fishing factor, we now propose that a nation be allowed to keep foreign fishing boats off six additional miles beyond a six-mile sovereignty belt. Exceptions would have to be made for fishermen of nations that have traditionally fished such waters.

The exception is intended to mollify the British and French. They have argued in the past that their particular fishing industries would be more harmed than helped by any limit beyond three miles. As the Russians love to point out, to help enforce Prohibition (remember that?) we made agreements with various countries by which they recognized our right to conduct anti-smuggling activities up to 12 miles from shore.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The New Encirclement

In a significant interview with "Le Figaro," Khrushchev, as usual, made many side statements of far-reaching significance. We, Americans, tend to oversimplify the Russians and their development until we are caught short by some stride that they have taken.

In the "Le Figaro" interview, Khrushchev raises the question that few of us are willing to recognize but which some of our thinkers such as Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson spoke of even when World War II was in process, namely that the United States could be isolated involuntarily.

I quote from the Tass report of the interview—that is, the official Russian report:

"Speaking about the possibility of building Communism in the USSR in the conditions of capitalist encirclement, Khrushchev called the interviewer's attention to the circumstance that at the present time the very concept of 'capitalist encirclement' needs serious qualifications. Now it is hard to tell, Khrushchev said, who encircles whom — is it the capitalist countries that encircle the socialist countries or vice versa? The socialist countries are inhabited by 1 billion people out of the 2.5 billion total world population; with the establishment of the world system of socialism the world situation has changed radically and not in favor of capitalism. Consequently capitalist encirclement in the old meaning of this word is out of the question."

The most recent techniques employed by Soviet Russia are economic and might be regarded as capitalistic. They have to do with the movement of goods, the use of gold as a common denominator of currency and the substitution of Russian for American economic and military aid to countries which cannot stand on their own. The most recent economic invasion by Soviet Russia is into Latin America.

From the standpoint of the United States the most dangerous operations of Soviet Russia are in Brazil and Chile. Brazil is suffering economically from an excessive coffee crop, dependent upon an American market which is appalled at the high and even unreasonable cost of the commodity. By a pulverizing method, the various "instant" brands have come into existence, have been popularized and are in wide use. Economically, the importance of the "instant" coffees is that it is possible to get more cups of coffee out of a pound this way than by cooking ground beans.

Be all this as it may, the United States cannot absorb all the coffee that Brazil wishes to send to this country or at the prices that Brazil wishes to charge. Therefore, the Russians, who do not drink much coffee, preferring tea, drunk hot in glasses, are ready to buy the Brazilian surplus on a barter deal. This would give Russia a foot in the door, as it were, of the most Catholic country of Latin America.

Obviously, the Russians cannot consume this surplus coffee crop, but would ultimately dump it either among coffee-drinking satellites such as the East Germans, the Czechs or the Hungarians or would dribble it into the world market slowly enough not to ruin the price. The Russians can undoubtedly make a profit on this transaction.

Another deal involves Chile copper. This has become a political issue in Chile. Chile is one of the world's greatest producers of copper. On the other hand, the copper market in the United States has slumped, the price of copper is down and there is talk of putting a protective tariff on copper in this country.

These conditions seriously affect the economy of Chile and there is talk of Soviet Russia buying the Chilean copper production. The Socialist and Communist parties favor trading with Soviet Russia; those in power fear to injure Chile's relations with the United States. On the other hand, the United States cannot purchase all the copper that can be produced in the Western Hemisphere for political reasons without the slightest regard to economic necessity.

Again the point must be made that Soviet Russia could accumulate stocks of surplus copper, could pour it into world markets; thus affecting the price.

The use of the economic tool is rather recent in the Soviet's effort to control the world. Stalin apparently was too doctrinaire a socialist to bother with such capitalistic weapons. Khrushchev, Bulganin and Mikoyan not only understand non-socialistic methods but also know how to operate money, banking and the use of commodities along capitalistic lines.

Justice Department Due For Probe On Law Enforcement Favoritism

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The situation inside the Justice Department regarding political favoritism in law enforcement has caused some worried huddles by Justice Department officials, plus some talk on Capitol Hill of a Congressional investigation.

Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Congressman Jack Brooks of Texas have already addressed inquiries to the new Attorney General, William P. Rogers, about his failure to prosecute Republicans.

Mr. Rogers and Vice President Nixon are reported to have held several earlier conversations on on particular case, that of Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat who hurriedly switched to Eisenhower in 1956, after he found himself under income tax investigation. The Grand Jury probing Powell was stymied 14 months by the Justice Department despite the fact that the U. S. assistant attorney, Thomas Bolan, tried to push the case. Bolan finally resigned.

The Powell grand jury has now been reconvened in New York after moves made by some of its members to rehire Mr. Bolan and take the case into its own hands.

The threatened runaway aspect of the Powell grand jury could not have come at a more embarrassing time for the Justice Department. It coincides not only with the demands of Senator Core and Representative Brooks for prosecution of Republicans, but also with the last desperate appeal to the Supreme Court by Lamar Caudle and Matt Connelly of the Truman Administration for a rehearing of their case.

The Justice Department called three different grand juries, in Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis, in an effort to get something on officials close to President Truman. It even refused Caudle and Connelly a new trial after the trial judge, Ruby Hulen, committed suicide before sentence was passed.

Senate Investigation?

Members of the Senate Judiciary Committee have compiled a list of cases where the Justice Department, under Eisenhower, appeared to evade, and in some cases deliberately dismissed, prosecution of Republicans. This may become the basis of an important investigation of whether the Justice Department has become the political arm of the administration. Here are some of the cases:

Galveston grain scandal—After the Justice Department indicted E. H. Thornton and officials of the Bunge Corporation, an Argentine firm, for stealing U. S. government grain and replacing it with hog feed on the Galveston docks, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas flew to Washington, lunched with Ike, and thereafter the case against Thornton was dropped. Thornton was the father of Shivers' campaign manager and college classmate. Subordinate officials of the Justice Department were indignant over orders to drop the case, but complied.

Superior Oil Company — After lobbyists for the Superior Oil Company, Elmer Patman and John Neff, tried to bribe Senator Case of South Dakota with $2,500 to vote for the natural gas bill, both were given suspended sentences by Judge Joseph McGarraghy. But the man who put up the money, Howard Keck, head of Superior Oil, was never prosecuted. He had donated twice this amount, $5,000, to the Eisenhower Dinner during the natural gas fight.

American Telephone and Telegraph Co.—After the Justice Department brought an antitrust case again A.T. & T. during the Truman administration, Attorney General Brownell huddled secretly at White Sulphur Springs with the attorney for A. T. & T. and was subservient and obsequious in trying to compromise the case. The case was settled out of court on terms considered highly favorable to the giant phone company.

Edward Foote—One of the Justice Department officials who bowed from the waist in trying to please A. T. & T. was Edward Foote, No. 2 man in the Anti-trust Division. Later he was caught with a conflict of interest. He had bought stock in Warren Petroleum at the very same time he had to pass on its merger with Gulf Oil. He was quietly allowed to resign after Congress go wind of the deal. He has never been prosecuted, though conflicts of interest have been prosecuted in previous administrations.

Other conflicts of interest—A long list of conflicts of interest have been unearthed inside the Eisenhower administration. They have been discovered by newsmen and Congressional committees, not by the FBI. Not one of these has ever been prosecuted. The Dixon-Yates conflict went to a Civil trial after Senator Kefauver threatened to have the Senate appoint its own attorney to handle the case. But there has been not one criminal prosecution in the long list of conflict-of-interest cases.

Federal Communications Commission—Ike's Comptroller General, Joseph Campbell, has ruled that FCC commissioners violated the law in collecting travel expenses from industry and then collecting from the government. However, there have been no prosecutions and only one resignation—that of Richard Mack. A grand jury was called, but there have been no indictments.

Chairman Len Hall—A Congressional committee received sworn evidence that Hall had required a political donation from the Frederick H. Snare Co. before it got a government contract. This in violation of the corrupt practices act, but the Justice Department has refused to act.

This is part of the record now being compiled in congress.

America's Non-Policy-Making In The Near East

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Behind the scenes, an intensely serious debate about our future course in the Middle East is now going on among the American policy-makers. It may seem rather remote, but in reality it is about as remote as a time-bomb under the bed. So the issues are worth examining.

Two main issues are being debated. The first is whether to encourage Camille Chaumoun in his intention to seek amendment of the Lebanese constitution, so that he can secure another term as President of the Lebanon. The second issue is how far to go on the new State Department line of making friends again with Egypt's Gamal Abdul Nasser.

The two issues can both be summed up in a single question: "Whose side are we on?" For Nasser is Chaumoun's unrelenting enemy, precisely because the Lebanese President is a stout friend of the West. Thus encouraging Chaumoun to try for another term inevitably means renewed conflict with Nasser.

Making polite and friendly noises to Nasser, by the same token, inevitably impairs Chaumoun's chance for re-election. In fact, grave damage has already been done in Beirut by the noises the State Department has made in the last week, about unfreezing the Egyptian funds now blocked in the United States as soon as Nasser makes a settlement with the former stockholders of the Suez Canal Company.

The thing does not end there, either. The new jink in American policy, towards greater amiability to Nasser, has also greatly upset the other Middle Eastern leaders who are under constant attack by Nasser because they are friends of the West. King Hussein in Jordan, old Nuri Pasha in Iraq, are both intensely disturbed.

Again, the outcome in Lebanon is being watched with anxious attention, not just in Jordan and Iraq, but also in Turkey, Iran and Pakistan. In all these places, Camille Chaumoun is frankly regarded as a test case. Justly or unjustly, the United States will surely be blamed for deserting Chaumoun if the Lebanese constitution is not successfully amended, and Chaumoun therefore fails to secure another term. Every other pro-Western leader in the whole area will thereupon begin asking himself when his turn will come to be deserted in the same manner.

Worse still, the replacement of Chaumoun by a more neutral and therefore less controversial candidate can lead on quite directly to a new challenge to King Hussein in Jordan. Jordan's beleaguered pro-Westerners watched with horrified attention while Nasser's furious attack forced King Hussein's "elder brother," King Saud of Saudi Arabia, to hand over most of his authority to Saudi Arabia's crown Prince Faisal.

The pattern of defeat for a stout friend of the West, and his replacement by a neutral, was clearly set in the Saudi Arabian crisis. Let the same pattern be repeated in the Lebanon. Then the time will be ripe in Jordan for Hussein to fall victim to Nasser's pressure. After that it will be about time to give up the life-and-death game for the Middle East.

Such are the stakes in the present behind-the-scenes debate in Washington. Unfortunately, a good many officials of the Dulles State Department do not consider the stakes being played for. They only consider the ease of play.

Obviously, it is much easier and pleasanter to have outwardly amiable relations with such a formidable figure as Gamal Abdul Nasser. Obviously, it will be much easier and pleasanter if there is no violent crisis in Lebanon — and there will surely be a very violent crisis, if Camille Chaumoun adheres to his intention to seek another term as President.

But avoiding unpleasantness is not policy-making. There are, indeed, only two possible Middle Eastern policies now open to the American government. Either we stick by the West's Middle Eastern friends, treat their enemies as our enemies, and accept the unpleasantness this course will produce. Or we pay the unpleasantly enormous price of making a fundamental adjustment in the Western attitude toward the new Arab nationalism that Nasser represents. We cannot have it both ways, as we are trying to do.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Message to Garcia now reads, "Lay off, keed, you're tilting the pinball machine."

The Cuban embrawlio calls for diplomacy that will exceed the bag limit on portfolios.

Some of our best split-level minds will convert disorder out of chaos. When it comes to holding shooting-crackers in our teeth we're chain smokers.

Our highest type of diplomacy busted loose in Korea when we supplied both sides with guns. And the clay pigeons too.

This time nobody's going to interfere with the Cuban olympics. Provided they don't cut off Winsome Churchill's supply of all-Havana smog.

We stepped into the West Indian atolls when it looked like Shickelgruber might grab some bases. At that time this stack of advance misinformation wrote, "You don't own your house if you dont' own the doorsteps."

That looked like a shill for annexation. We came so close you couldn't tell where the quills stopped and the feathers started.

We might as well go to sleep. The Cubans have already dropped both shoes.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

My father got into the long black Cadillac. He looked back at Don Walsh and Ed Fisher. They nodded. Dad smiled at the uniformed chauffeur. He is an old-time baseball fan. Once upon a time, he played second base and I do not understand how a left-hander can play second base and I am afraid to ask because I have been dressed down with scorn for less silly questions than that.

Today, he was going to see the Yankees. In style. Mr. Fisher said that the Ballantine Brewery was sponsoring a lunch-and-game and my father, who will be 75 in October, was invited. He had been, in his time, a blacksmith, a railroad fireman, a conductor, a police lieutenant and now he works for Bennett Fishler on the Ridgewood News.

Always, he was a perfectionist; and always a baseball fan. He admired both the Yankees and the Giants and, when either of them lost a game, my father ground his teeth and said that they didn't know how to play ball and besides, they had no guts. When they won, they were his boys.

Ed Fisher and Tom Wilkinson took him to lunch at the Manhattan Hotel. Dad was so nervous that he could hardly eat. Headwaiters were bowing and smiling and Mel Allen came over to shake hands and then Mr. Phillip Rizzuto stopped by to sit with him and ask him how the heck a southpaw on second base makes a throw to first. My father asked Mr. Rizzuto how come a shortstop talks so much on television.

At the Yankee Stadium, Don Walsh took John M (for Motive) to a front box between home plate and third base and he saw a good pitchers' battle between Whitey Ford and Billy Loes. The Yankees won, 3-1 and, when the game was over, Dad smiled and shook his head and said that he felt like Queen for a Day.

He wanted to go home (he lives with my sister), but Jackie Farrell of the Yankees stopped by and said: "How about coming with me? Some of the players would like to meet you."

This was almost too much. My father used to be a big 254-pound-man capable of facing any joy, but now he is 155 pounds and he looks as though somebody forgot to sanforize him. He is always a faultless dresser and he would not go down to the clubhouse until his gray fedora was at the correct angle. Then, threading his way through the fans, he followed Jackie Farrell down the lower ramp.

It was too much. He was introduced to George Weiss, the general manager of the Yankees, and then to Red Barber and to Casey Stengel, who manages the Yankees and Fort Knox. After that, Mr. Farrell led him to the Sports Writers bar. There he met Til Ferdenzi and Joe Trimble and Tom Meany and Charlie Hoff; some of the writers and photographers whose material he has been scanning for years.

My father doesn't drink—at one time he could belt it if the party was going good—and it grieved him to turn down a free slug, but he took a cup of tea instead. This is one of the penalties of age; the other is a gift for remembering the wrong things.

He was led into the players clubhouse. The stars looked like a bunch of silent nudists in front of their lockers. Hank Bauer, sitting in nothing more than a pair of wooden clogs, got up to acknowledge the introduction and Dad said: "You're one of my all-time favorites and I hope you have a good year." He met Ralph Houk (who was dressed in a lit cigar) and Bobbie Shantz and Turley and Andy Carey and Yogi Berra and Skowron and Don Larsen, who sat on a rubbing table having a final kink ironed out by Gus Mauch.

Dad met them all. Have you ever seen a little boy dropped into a window full of candy? Have you ever seen the expression on the face of a poor woman who has just been told that her ticket won the Irish Sweepstakes? I don't like to disparage my mother, but I don't think my father could have looked happier on his honeymoon.

These are his heroes. He knows the strengths and weaknesses of these men better than he knows his own. When he is not at a game, he sits in front of a television set, chewing on a cigar, and his face mirrors ecstacy, disappointment, hope, disgust.

It is nothing for him to phone me (60 miles away) to say: "There is nothing important, Jim. I just want you to know that the Yanks are in the eighth inning, the score is tied, and Casey just put Turley in. Whatever you're doing, stop it and get on that television set."

He's a man's man, this guy. A great one too . . .

Swollen Limbs: Physical And Emotional Problem

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A swollen leg or arm is a physical and emotional handicap. The appearance of the extremity is disturbing, especially to women who cannot hide or camouflage the deformity.

I am reminded of a middle-aged widow who was regarded as a recluse by the neighbors. She lived alone and never ventured out of doors except at night to walk her Scotch terrier. Once when she developed a cold and asked me to make a house call, I saw at once the reason for her odd behavior. Her left arm was twice the normal size.

Three years previously she had had the left breast removed because of cancer. All the surrounding tissues, including the glands in the armpits, also were taken out. The operation was successful but the arm commenced to swell several weeks after she returned from the hospital. Treatment was unsuccessful at that time and she became so disturbed about its appearance, she refused to be seen in public.

The arm bothered her physically. It was heavy and painful and at times felt so distended and tight she was afraid it might break open. I persuaded her to go back to the hospital where the arm was elevated in a special frame. She received daily massage by a trained therapist.

Pain disappeared within 24 hours and the arm returned to its former size within two weeks. An elastic bandage was applied for day use and she was instructed to elevate the arm at night when sleeping. Even though the limb continued to become slightly swollen by the end of the day, an amazing change took place in her mental outlook and she no longer was a hermit.

A somewhat similar routine is used when a leg is enlarged as a result of lymphangitis. Fluid usually drains out of the puffy extremity after it is elevated. When it hangs down fluid re-accumulates but this can be minimized by wearing a compression bandage. Nowadays the leg is encased in a made to order elastic support. Full activity is recommended while this is worn as the pumping action of muscular movement helps to improve lymph circulation.

LYMPH — NOT MILK

Mrs. F. L. writes: What is done when a pregnant woman's milk settles in her legs?

REPLY

This fluid accumulation is not milk, as your grandmother thought, but tissue juices. The cause of lymphedema may be a circulatory disorder of the lower extremities or toxamia of pregnancy. This woman should be under the watchful eye of a physician.

PENICILLIN REACTION

L. S. writes: What is done about a severe penicillin rash?

REPLY

The outbreak usually disappears after penicillin is discontinued. If it persists, it may be advisable to take one of the antihistaminics or steroids, such as cortisone. A new drug to combat penicillin reactions was reported recently. It is a penicillinase product and is said to be of value in this type of reaction.

TONSILS AND POLIO

Mrs. W. writes: If a child's tonsils must come out, is it better to have it done before the summer months or has the Salk vaccine changed this concept?

REPLY

If the Salk vaccine protects against polio, there is no reason why tonsillectomy cannot be done in the summer time.

CALCIUM IN FOOD

Mrs. J. H. writes: What foods can be given an 8 year old boy to supply calcium? He is allergic to milk.

REPLY

Fresh vegetables and fruits, dried figs, dates, dried beans, eggs, lean beef, whole wheat, and nuts.

RESEARCH ON ASTHMA

F. D. writes: Is any research being done on bronchial asthma? I have tried everything available but still have it.

REPLY

Yes; many physicians, institutions, and pharmaceutical houses are conducting research on this condition. The American Foundation for Allergic Diseases, for example, offers fellowships in research and clinical allergy. Nothing new had developed recently except for improved corticosteroids and vasoconstricting drugs. Have you made an attempt to uncover and eliminate the cause of your asthma? This is the most important aspect of the disorder.

TOMORROW: Many factors in heart attacks.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A society leader invited a prominent physician to dinner, but his reply was so illegible, she couldn't figure whether he had accepted or not. "The druggist who fills his prescriptions must know how to decipher his scrawl by this time," she reasoned, and duly presented the letter to him for clarification.

The druggist looked puzzled, and said, "Let me read this back in the pharmacy." He reappeared a few moments later carrying a small bottle. "I finally figured it out,' he announced cheerfully. "That will be $2.95 please."

An angry publicity man for a New England winter resort sent out this announcement: "There is no connection whatever between this town's reputation as a popular ski center and the fact that we make 60 per cent of all wooden crutches."

A national housing shortage? Nonsense, insists Art Carney. It's just an irresponsible rumor, he explains, started by a lot of discontents who have no place to live.

Referendum Is Asked On Sewer Plan

282 Valid Names On Petitions

WESTERNPORT—The task of checking petition signatures for a referendum on a proposed amendment to the Town of Westernport charter ended with results showing 282 valid voters.

Of 443 names checked, 161 residents were not registered on the registration books.

Filed earlier this week, the petition calls for a referendum on an amendment unanimously adopted by the town council. The amendment would enable the community to participate in a waste treatment program planned in the Tri-Towns.

Names of the petition were checked against the town registration list by Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney; Louis A. Fatkin, who represented the petitioners, and Mrs. Katherine Dailey, town clerk.

Signatures of 20 per cent of the community's 1,080 registered voters are required to force a referendum. If the present 282 figure holds up, the vote will be taken at the biennial election May 27.

Mayor Okey E. Michael announced that a public meeting meeting will be held Friday, May 9, at 8 p. m., to discuss the proposed amendment to the charter.

After 1962, he added, the Upper Potomac River Commission is under no obligation to permit the town to "hook on" to the proposed sewage system.

Law Is Cement That Holds Free Society Together, Judge See Tells Audience In Keyser Circuit Court

KEYSER — "Law Day U.S.A." was observed by the legal fraternity, courts, colleges and universities on Thursday throughout West Virginia and the country, and the Law Day observance was called to the attention of local attorneys, the jury and court officers by Judge Ernest A. See, when he opened court at 10 a. m., yesterday.

The local jurist said "We have cause for celebratio because we are the beneficiaries of the richest heritage of liberty under law in the history of civilized peoples.

"This the first time that the nation has set aside a day to honor the law and what it has meant and can mean to Americans," he said. "Yet law is the intangible force that makes freedom and progress possible. It is law that brings order into the affairs of men — that enables them to lift their sights above mere survival, to accumulate possessions, to develop the arts, to pursue knowledge and to enjoy life among their fellows. Law gives the individual citizen security he could obtain in no other way; it protects the family and other groups organized for advancement of common interests; it permits the growth of great cities and the development of enterprises, large and small. It is the cement that holds our free society together.

"This court of law — representative of the vast judicial system of our state and nation — is one of the cornerstones of our structure of government under law. The judges of our courts — from the lowest to the highest — are subject to control only by the law of the land and are accountable only to their own consciences and to almighty God.

"No American judge can be overruled by any authority on earth save that of a superior court upon appeal duly taken under the law. And every American judge presides over a court dedicated to the living American ideal of equal justice under law.

"We, in this court room — the judge, as presiding officer, the attorneys and officers of the court and citizens, — litigants or jurors — share the profound responsibility of preserving, strengthening and passing on to future generations our judicial system which unconditionally guarantees equal justice under law to even the most humble among us. This guarantee is a vital part of our heritage as American citizens.

"To keep alive this ideal of equal justice in this day of dictators who have replaced law with force throughout much of the world, we need the same passionate love of liberty, dedication to the ideal, respect for law, and faith in divine guidance which inspired our pioneer forefathers to found this free nation as an example to liberty loving people everywhere.

"Let us here today, each in his own way, rededicate ourselves to that solemn task — to preserve and pass on to the citizens of tomorrow the heritage of Liberty under law which is rightfully theirs."

Pleasing Springtime Meal: Jellied Salad, Cold Cuts

Roll up the meat slices, tucking a jaunty sprig of green in each one. Make the jellied salad in pretty, individual molds. Then arrange the whole business, meat rolls and salads, wheel-wise around a center bowl of salad dressing. Fun! Easy! And a most appetizing looking platter to set on a springtime table.

It's appetizing eating, too.

Fork into the shining salad molds and you meet such crisp crunchies as chopped celery, radishes and cucumbers. You taste plump, smooth prune pieces, in all their natural sweet-tartness, with lemon juice as sharpener for the jelly itself. Refreshing going! These little jellies really enliven a cold meat course, and in most friendly fashion. Nice to serve with them would be thick tomato slices and, of course, rolls fresh and crusty.

Here is the way to make the Jellied Salad. It can, if you wish, be made in one big, handsome mold. So you have a choice . . . and don't we all like that?

Jellied Spring Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup chopped pitted plumped prunes
1 cup diced cucumber
½ cup sliced radishes
¼ cup sliced scallions
Watercress
Mayonnaise or salad dressing

Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes; add boiling water, stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add sugar, salt and lemon juice. Add prunes, cucumber, radishes and scallions. Mix well. Pour into molds; chill until set. Unmold. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing as accompaniment to cold cuts. Makes 6 servings.

Ali-Oil Salad Plate Recipe Is Given

One of the most famous of Spanish sauces is ali-oil, a garlic-flavored mayonnaise type sauce, made with light fragrant Spanish olive oil. First crush two or three cloves of garlic and blend with 2 well-beaten egg yolks; then gradually beat in a cup of Spanish olive oil, at first adding a drop or two at a time, gradually adding in a stream as sauce thickens.

With an electric blender, this is the easiest of all sauces to make. Finally add 1 or 2 tablespoons of vinegar, to your taste, plus salt and pepper. Serve with quartered tomatoes, hard-boiled eggs, chunks of tuna fish and slivers of ham for a spring luncheon plate, or for a Sunday night supper.

Herbs, Olive Oil

Next time you use a recipe which calls for herbs, add the measurement of herbs to a tablespoon or two of Spanish olive oil and let the herbs marinate in the oil for half an hour or so before adding to the stew or sauce. This is an old Spanish trick for bringing out the full aroma of the herbs. If the recipe calls for sauteing onion, meat or other ingredients in olive oil, add the herbs to the skillet along with the ingredients to be sauteed.

Cauliflower Fritters

For a crisp, flavorful vegetable with roast meat, fry cauliflower in the Spanish manner; first break the head of cauliflower into small sprigs, then boil these until just tender. Dip each sprig into seasoned beaten egg, then fry until crisp in light golden Spanish olive oil.

ROSY PEAR DUMPLINGS

3 fresh Anjou or Bosc pears
1 1-lb. can whole cranberry sauce
½ cup water
1 cup biscuit mix
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup milk

In automatic skillet place canned cranberry sauce and water. Set dial for 240 degrees. Place pears which have been washed, halved and cored in pan, cut side up. If necessary, trim rounded side of pear to lie flat in skillet. Cover and cook for 5 to 10 minutes, depending upon ripeness of pears. Prepare dumplings using biscuit mix or any standard dumpling recipe with 1 tablesoon sugar added. Remove cover and top each pear half with spoonful of dumpling batter. Replace cover and cook for 15 minutes. Serve warm, spooning cranberry sauce over pears and serve with rich sweet cream.

Beef Chop Suey

Cube some beef stew meat, and cook it with celery, onions, a can of mixed Chinese vegetables, seasonings and soy sauce, and what do you have? Beef chop suey, of course! Serve the Chinese style beef stew over crisp noodles or hot, fluffy rice.

Beef Chop Suey

1½ pounds beef stew meat, cut in 1-inch cubes
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups hot water
3 cups coarsely chopped celery
1½ cups coarsely chopped onions
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup cold water
1 can (14-16 ounces) mixed Chinese vegetables
2 tablespoons molasses
½ cup toasted almonds (optional)

Coat meat with flour and brown in hot fat. Add sauces, salt pepper, hot water. Cover and simmer 1½ hours. Add celery and onions and cook 10 minutes longer, or until vegetables are barely tender. Mix cornstarch and cold water; add to mixture; cook, stirring constantly, over low heat. When thickened, add mixed vegetables and molasses. Heat two or three minutes. Add almonds and serve over hot rice. 6 servings.

For a taste-tempting salad, arrange canned pear halves on salad greens, place a spoonful of dairy sour cream in the pear cavity, and sprinkle generously with toasted coconut.

Assorted Fillings

CHICKEN-CURRY — Mix together 1 jar strained chicken, ½ teaspoon curry powder, ½ teaspoon salt, pinch pepper, just a hint of grated onion, and 1 tablespoon minced pimiento. Taste and add additional salt, if desired.

HAM-MUSTARD—Mix together 1 jar strained ham, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, pinch pepper and ½ teaspoon horseradish. Taste and add additional seasoning, if desired.

VEG-BACON—Mix together 1 jar strained vegetables and bacon, ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon minced pimiento, ½ teaspoon salt, pinch pepper, pinch dehydrated onion, and 1 tablespoon well-drained pickle relish. Taste and add additional seasoning, if desired.

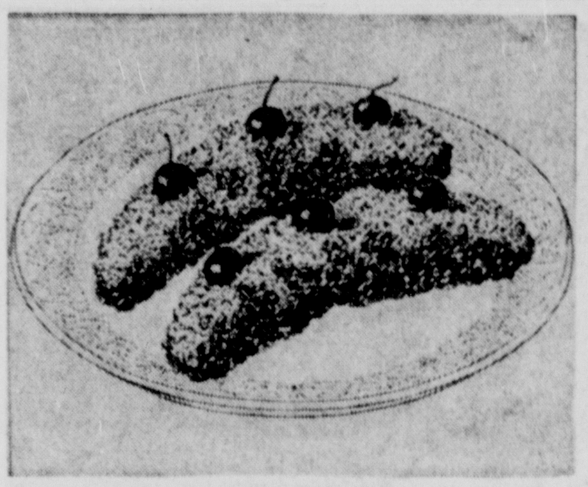
Honey-glazed canned pears make a quick, delicious, meat accompaniment. Place pear halves in pan and pour about 1 tablespoon honey and 1 teaspoon lemon juice over each. Broil just long enough to heat the pears. Serve immediately, with your favorite chops or roast.

A molded ginger ale and lime pear salad is quick and can be made ahead. Dissolve one package lime gelatin in 1 cup hot water; add a 7-oz. bottle of ginger ale; chill until thick and syrupy. Dip 8 canned pear halves in juice of one lemon; arrange in shallow pan or mold. Pour thickened gelatin over the pear halves. Chill until firm. Unmold in crisp lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise.

Sprinkle grated cheese on canned pear halves and place under broiler until cheese is bubbly and slightly browned. Serve with ham slices or pork roast for a tasty "go-along."



BANANAS CALYPSO

Brush peeled bananas with melted butter, sprinkle generously with salt; add dash of white pepper and nutmeg. Bake in 375° oven for about 15 to 18 minutes. Then roll baked fruit in hot marmalade or preserve (your favorite kind) and macaroon crumbs. For extra flavor, you can serve with a hard or flaming sauce.

Give a gourmet touch to ham salad and chicken salad by adding grated Gouda cheese slivers just before you are ready to serve. This round red packaged cheese—Gouda—imparts its rich golden color, and mild nutty flavor to add the perfect accent to an otherwise unsophisticated treat.

Inexpensive Lamb Riblets

Do you ever wonder why flavorful lamb riblets are so economical? It's simply because the riblets contain a large percentage of fat and bone along with plenty of tasty lean meat and they are cut from the breast of lamb.

Here's a recipe using lamb riblets that is a "dilly" — it actually contains whole dill seed!

Lamb Riblets With Dill

3 pounds lamb riblets
2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, chopped
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon whole dill seed
½ teaspoon pepper

Brown riblets on all sides in hot fat; remove from pan and cook onion in fat 3 minutes. Return meat to pan and add water, vinegar, salt, dill, and pepper. Cover and cook slowly 1 hour. 6 servings.

Glamorize Party Plans With 'Ingredient X'

Baby food has been enjoyed for years by our youngest citizens. But this ingredient X—no longer labelled "for infants only"—has grown up to adult recipes. The convenient small jars are just right (no left-overs to store away) for use in making party spreads and appetizers.

Here are some tangy, "more, please" menu items that are bound to take top honors in the party department. And what better time to try them than during National Baby Week—April 26-May 3.

TURKEY-RICE RING

Combine ½ cup milk or light cream with 1 can condensed cream of chicken soup. Heat. Stir in ½ cup cooked sliced mushrooms, 2 cups diced cooked turkey, ¾ tsp. salt, ¼ cup diced pimento. Keep hot. Lightly toss 3 cups freshly cooked hot rice, 3 tbsp. butter, ½ tbsp. salt, 3 tbsp. chopped parsley, dash pepper. To serve—arrange rice in a ring and fill with creamed turkey.

Meat Steps Forward In High Style

Is your family as enthusiastic over a menu featuring a variety meat as they are when porterhouse steak is in the spotlight? In many instances, the answer is probably, No!

To the homemaker who knows the value of serving a nutritious and mineral-packed variety meat recipe, this attitude may seem quite disturbing.

Whether you're serving heart, liver, tongue, sweetbreads or kidneys, they're all considered as an outstanding source of food nutrients and provide them in extraordinary amounts.

One such variety meat recipe features veal hearts and is called Heart Imperial. It can't help but win praise and admiration from your family as well as your friends. Yes, this recipe is suited for party service, too.

This unusual treat is a combination of veal hearts, minced garlic, onion, paprika, condensed mushroom soup and frozen green beans.

Heart Imperial

- 2 veal hearts
- ¼ cup lard or drippings
- 1 small clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
- ½ cup water
- 1 package (10½ ounces) frozen green beans

Wash hearts and remove hard parts. Cut into ¾-inch cubes. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add garlic, onion, paprika, mushroom soup and water. Cover tightly and simmer 1¼ hours. Add green beans. Cover and continue simmering 15 to 20 minutes or until heart is tender and beans are done. Yield: 6 servings.

Peppy Tuna Spread

Blend together 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, 1 jar strained tuna, ½ cup mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon minced pimiento. Season with ⅛ teaspoon coarse ground black pepper, ½ teaspoon paprika and salt to taste. Add additional seasonings if desired. Chill. For a thinner dip or dunk consistency, blend in heavy cream a tablespoon at a time until desired consistency is achieved. Or use mayonnaise.

MAKE MINE PEANUT BUTTER! — That's a sandwich order, Mom. So better keep stocked with these other good foods that flatter the flavor of that ever-popular peanut. Here's peanut butter with onion rings on rye . . . with bacon, tomato and lettuce on wheat or white . . . with cream cheese on Boston brown bread.

Sandwiches And Salads For Weekend Nutrition

"Sandwiches and salads to go!" That's one meal call sure to win votes and influence appetites.

It's also an answer to a warning flag recently run up by leaders in nutrition research. Facts gathered from surveys of American eating habits strongly suggest that on weekends our children—especially our teen-agers—aren't eating enough, or the right foods, to maintain normal growth and good health.

Stop and think. It's the small meals on Saturday and Sunday that get skipped or skimped. Families are whirlwinds of activities—shopping and sports, lessons and dates, studies and church work. We're lucky to muster a quorum for even one planned meal a day. Too often it's unrewarding refrigerator raids and soda fountain shops that fill in the gaps. Or-in too much of a hurry to be hungry—youngsters simply go without.

So why not serve Saturday lunch and Sunday night supper straight from the refrigerator? Clear a shelf and post a menu that's an eye-and-appetite catcher. Make it self-service, but quick and easy to pick on the run: nutritionally sound, but so tempting that kids (and grown-ups) can't resist. Plan foods that will keep their flavors and freshness till everybody and his pal is fed—and likely re-fueled on his next swing past home base.

On that refrigerator shelf stack a tray with sandwiches — two kinds at least—each in its own plastic wrap. Or offer choices of breads and spreads all set to combine.

Next on the menu, a bowl of crisp salad greens under snug cover, with snappy dressing ready for solo toss-ups. For special appeal, take a tip from fastidious gourmets and make your French dressing with peanut oil. It's delightfully bland, with the surprising talent for holding seasonings extra close to each crinkle of salad greens without wilting them.

Next day, mold favorite fruits or vegetables in bright gelatine and firm up in chubby paper cups for the salad.

Carrot strips and celery keep their fresh-cut color and crispness in a tight plastic bag or refrigerator dish. Fresh fruits and milk take front seats. Pickles and olives, peanut butter and mayonnaise, mustard and catsup line up for quick action. Cupcakes, candy bars and cokes operate on the honor system—yours if you've taken on a real meal to back them up.

On a counter close by stack those Mom-savers—plastic forks and spreaders, paper plates, napkins and cups, plus lap trays for toting. So load when ready, folks, and pick your own eat spot — study table, back yard, TV corner or away on the run.

Heart of these refrigerator-ready meals are sandwiches. So make them rib-stickers, loaded with protein foods and energy-packed spreads that offer more than just calories. Peanut butter combos are most children's first love. Meat, cheese, chicken and tuna are favorite fillers. Protect bread slices from moisture by careful crust-to-crust spreading with butter, margarine or mayonnaise. And fill right up to those edges so every last bite will be enjoyed.

One thing about sandwiches. If you've a houseful of inveterate "just - make - mine - peanut - butter" enthusiasts, don't worry about it—nutritionally you're in luck! Balanced with other good foods—especially for these fast-galloping juniors—there's just no such thing as too much or too often when it comes to peanut butter. Like its papa, the peanut, it's packed with protein, loaded with fast-action energy, and rich in important B vitamins. So don't hesitate to go along with the crowd. Keep it front and center for weekend snackers, and — swirled in your prettiest spread server—on the table any day of the week or meal of the day.

16 Slated To Go Postward In Kentucky Derby Saturday

Tim Tam Is 2-1 Choice, Nadir Out

● Silky Sullivan 5-2, Jewel's Reward 7-2 In $125,000 Gallop

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tim Tam is the slight favorite to win the classic Kentucky Derby Saturday, but the Calumet Farm colt must reckon with Silky Sullivan, Jewel's Reward and 13 others who were entered Thursday for America's most colorful horse race.

There were a few surprises when the entry box slammed shut Friday morning at the Churchill Downs secretary's office and the original "big four" in the $125,000-added gallop was trimmed to the "big three" for the mile - and - a quarter romp which has a 4:30 p.m. (EST) post time.

Nadir Is Withdrawn

The trimming came about when Nadir, the big Claiborne Farm colt of Arthur B. Hancock, was withdrawn. Nadir was fourth in Tuesday's Derby Trial won by Tim Tam, and suffered a couple of minor leg cuts.

If the weather man cooperates, this 84th Derby could draw more than 100,000 for the biggest crowd in its history due to the presence of Silky Sullivan, Slick Silky, who trails far behind then gives with the old college try in the final half-mile, is one of the most talked about colts ever to start in the derby.

Silky's name was the first into the entry box Thursday, seven minutes after it opened at 7 a.m. Willie Shoemaker will ride the big chestnut.

Tim Tam Is 2 to 1

As the morning wore on, Jewel's Reward, owned by the Maine Chance farm of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham, was entered along with two stablemates, Jet's Alibi and Ebony Pearl. Tim Tam was the seventh official entry. He is listed as the early 2-1 choice to give Calumet Farm its seventh derby.

Odds on Silky Sullivan, who copped the Santa Anita Derby but hasn't tangled with such colts as Tim Tam and Jewel's Reward, were 5-2.

Jewel's Reward, who generally was recognized as the 2-year-old champ of 1957, was third choice at 7-2, heading the Maine Chance entry.

There was another surprise withdrawal, Belleau Chief, whom trainer E. B. Carpenter said had a nearly popped splint bone in winning a race here Saturday.

Completing the field were W. G. Reynilds' Warren G., the Llangollen Farm's Gone Fishin', George Lewis' Martins Rullah, C. V. Whitney's Flamingo, the Sunny Blue Farm's Lincoln Road, Mrs. Sam Wilson Jr.'s Red Hot Pistol, S. Helene Sadacca's A Dragon Killer, Mrs. Anthony Cannuli's Chance It Tony, Dr. Peter Graffagnino's Noureddin, the Hasty House Farm's Can Trust, and Mrs. A. B. Bellardi and T. I. Harkins' Benedicto. All carry 126 pounds.

Riders Are Named

All top riding assignments were completed with Eddie Arcaro in quest of his sixth derby winner aboard Jewel's Reward, Ismael Valenzuela piloting Tim Tam, Conn Mc Creary on Martins Rullah and Dave Erb as Ebony Pearl's rider.

Boston Red Sox Defeat A's, 7-6

Cerv Hits Seventh Home Run For K.C.

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox, frustrated throughout most of the game because of weak hitting in the clutch, came up with a pair of runs in the ninth inning Thursday for a 7-6 decision over the Kansas City Athletics.

Homers by Hal Smith and Bob Cerv accounted for five of the Kansas City runs. Smith belted a three-run homer in the second and Cerv connected for his seventh of the season with one on in the sixth.

Red Sox Get Lou Berberet From Nats

Aspromonte Goes To Washington

BOSTON, May 1—(INS) — The Boston Red Sox tonight announced tonight they have traded second baseman Ken Aspromonte to the Washington Senators for catcher Lou Berberet.

General Manager Joe Cronin said there was no cash involved in the deal. He said the Bosox wanted another catcher so they could farm out Jim Pagliaroni, their $75,000 bonus backstop, for more experience. The 20-year-old receiver recently was discharged from the Army.

Aspromonte, 25, has been in the Red Sox farm system since 1950 and last year with their San Francisco farm won the batting crown with a .334 batting average. He was picked for the Pacific Coast All Star team.

This year Aspromonte was one of four men used in an attempt to solve the Sox second base problem. He had appeared in 16 games, got only two hits and was batting .125.

Berberet, 18, a left handed hitter, appeared in 99 games for the Senators last season and batted .261.

Cronin said he has been after a left handed hitting receiver because both Sam White and Pete Daley hit from the right side of the plate.

Johnny Goryl's Homer In 9th Beats Braves

Drabowsky Scores In Relief Role, 3-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Johnny Goryl's solo homer in the ninth broke up a 2-2 tie and gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Thursday.

The triumph went to the fourth Cub pitcher, Moe Drabowsky, making his first appearance since a military hitch.

In the sixth, the Cubs took a 2-0 lead on Lee Walls' No. 9 homer of the season with none on. Walls thus swelled his homer lead and also his RBI advantage, at 17, in the National League. Walls also belted two singles for a perfect day in three official at bats.

The loser was the third Milwaukee pitcher, Bob Trowbridge, who entered the game in the ninth.

Burdette held the Cubs to one hit until the fourth when Walls' single, a one - bagger by Walt Moryn and an infield out gave the Bruins a 1-0 lead.

RAY SEMPROCH

Ray Semproch Of Phils Shuts Out Giants, 7-0

Holds Hard-Hitting 'Frisco To 7 Hits; Ruben Gomez Loser

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Philadelphia right-hander Ray Semproch scored his first victory as a starting major league pitcher Thursday, blanking San Francisco 7-0 and knocking the Giants out of first place in the National League.

The 27-year-old hurler, up from Miami in the International League, quieted the Giants with seven hits after they had collected a dozen in each of the first two games of this series.

A crowd of 6,728, smallest of the season, saw the two teams wage a scoreless battle through six innings until the Phillies erupted with four in the seventh off San Francisco starter Ruben Gomez, charged with his first loss after two victories. Those seventh inning hits included second baseman Ted Kazanski's first home run of the season, a drive of 365 feet over the left field fence.

Thursday's loss, combined with the 3-2 victory of Chicago over Milwaukee, put the Cubs in first place with a 9-5 record, a half game ahead of San Francisco's 9-6.

Semproch, who spent six years in the minors, notched his first major league victory on opening day with a relief stint against Cincinnati, but Thursday's was his first triumph in three starts.

Arnold Palmer Leads Colonial Golf Tourney

Ties Record With 65, Three Tied For 2nd

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer putted beautifully Thursday to fashion a 5-under-par 65 that tied the course record and gave him the first round lead in the $15,000 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament.

The Masters champion wound up with a 3-stroke bulge as the field played over a course swept by rain for a week and which fell on some of the late finishers Thursday. But he was just one of eight who bettered par—the greatest first round in the tournament's history. The previous high was six.

Declaring it was "the best putting I've done in a long, long time," the 28 - year - old former National Amateur king from Latrobe, Pa. and currently the leading money winner of the year along the professional tour, was his hottest on the incoming nine.

He had three straight birdies at one point as he sped over the soggy 7,021 Colonial Country Club course's second nine in a record-tying four-under par.

But while Palmer had a great round—one that tied the course record set by Ben Hogan in 1946 and later equalled by Chandler Harper and Mike Souchak — he didn't hold a long lead at the finish.

Tommy Bolt came in late with a two-under-par 68 and several others bettered par.

Joining Bolt at 68 were Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Canada, winner of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas last week, and Lloyd Mangrum, the former Texan from Apple Valley, Calif.

Basketball Dropped From Blimp Bounces 22 Feet, 9 Inches

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP) — A Navy blimp armed with a dozen basketballs made a bombing run over the Naval Air Station here Wednesday.

Its mission: to determine how high a basketball would bounce if dropped from the Empire State Building.

The answer: 22 feet, 9 inches.

The Navy performed the mission as a courtesy for a basketball manufacturer who wanted to know how high the balls would bounce.

New York City officials forbade a 1,472-foot hook shot from the top of the world's tallest building. So the Navy volunteered.

Bubble Gum Moore Beats Bobcats, 5-0

Newport News Ace Hurls Four-Hitter

Lefty Bob Moore, a bubble gum blowing pitcher, had Frostburg State Teachers College at his mercy yesterday as he limited the Bobcats to only four hits in hurling the Newport News Apprentice School of Virginia to a 5-0 victory at Mt. Savage.

Moore, who fanned 21 Potomac State batsmen in a 9-inning game and won by the score of 18-1 on April 8, whiffed eight Bobcats in yesterday's game. He also obtained two of the Newport News team's nine safeties in yesterday's contest. Among Frostburg's four hits was a two-bagger by Dorcil Kline.

Moore attracted considerable attention because he was blowing on his bubble gum while working on the mound for the visiting team.

Hugh Nolan went the route for the Bobcats and fanned four and issued four passes.

The loss was the fifth against two wins for Frostburg State. The Bobcats' next engagement is with Potomac State on Saturday at Mt. Savage.

Newport News is scheduled to play Potomac State in a return game today at 3 p. m., at Stayman Field, Keyser. Tomorrow the Virginians meet Shepherd College's Rams at Shepherdstown, W. Va. Box:

Herb Score Sidelined With Elbow Injury

WASHINGTON (AP)—Herb Score, Cleveland's ace southpaw, may be out of action for some time because of an elbow injury.

Score hurt the elbow while pitching Wednesday night against the Washington Senators. He had to withdraw with two on and one out, in the ninth inning when his arm went lame.

A doctor examined the elbow Thursday and it was reported that Score is suffering from an inflamed tendon. He appears certain to miss his next regular turn on the mound and, if the injury does not heal, could be out for a matter of weeks.

Much will depend on how the elbow reacts when Score tries to throw again, and he probably won't test it for another few days.

Valley at Allegany (4:00)

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels trounced the Bruce High School Bulldogs by the score of 11-1 to register their fifth consecutive victory of the season and Allegany High School's Campers made it four wins in a row by edging LaSalle, 7-6, in a pair of Allegany County Interscholastic Baseball League games staged here yesterday.

Valley High School broke a four-game losing streak to notch its first win of the campaign at the expense of Flintstone High's Aggies in a game played at Barton. The score was 6-2.

Fort Hill extended its 2-year winning streak in the league to 12 games and Russell Jones made his two-year league record 6-0 by turning back the Westernport nine in yesterday's tilt at Fort Hill Field.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's defending champions larruped the offerings of two Bruce twirlers for 11 safeties, including three-base belts by Tommy Shaw and Thurl Roy. Jimmy Stinson, Carl Slonaker, Roy and Shaw shared eight of the winning team's 11 blows.

In notching his third straight triumph of the current campaign, Jones held Bruce to four singles and fired the third strike past eight batsmen. The Bulldogs scored their only run by grouping two of their four hits with a walk in the third inning. A pass to McIntyre and hits by Clem and Morris produced the tally.

Hook Posts 3rd Win

Bill Hook tossed a five-hitter, struck out eight and hit a home run as he scored his third straight pitching triumph of the season over LaSalle.

Allegany scored six of its seven runs in the first two innings and LaSalle made five of its six tallies in the last two frames.

"Bud" Allison of Allegany was the only player to obtain two hits — a double and single.

Green started on the mound for LaSalle but gave way to Bill Blake in the first inning. The latter finished on the mound for the Explorers. Green was tagged with the loss. Blake struck out nine.

The win gave Allegany a 1-0 record in the city race. Fort Hill is 1-0 and LaSalle 0-2 with defeats at the hands of Fort Hill and the Campers.

Flintstone went down to defeat for the fifth straight time this season as Valley crashed the win column for the first time.

The Black Knights collected 11 hits from Golden's offerings, including three singles by Teddy Wilson and two hits each by Rodney Johnson and Mike Muir.

Muir pitched a two-hitter for Valley.

Fort Hill plays at Flintstone. LaSalle visits Mt. Savage. Beall is at Bruce and Valley at Allegany in games scheduled for today.

Pirates Beat Dodgers, 8-3

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pittsburgh's rampaging Pirates extended their winning streak to six games tonight by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers by the score of 8-3.

Frank Thomas collected four hits for the Pirates, including a pair of home runs. Vernon Law also hit for the circuit.

The Pirates went down in order in the first. The Dodgers put men on third and second with none out, on a walk and Mejias' error on Gino Cimoli's fly ball, but Duke Snider popped out, Gil Hodges filed out to short center and Charlie Neal tapped back to the mound.

Frank Thomas singled with one out in the Pirate second, but Mejias flied to right and Bill Mazeroski hit into a force out. The Dodgers got a man to second when Don Zimmer walked and Newk lined a two-out single to left, but Powers pulled down Gilliam's high fly at the left field screen.

The Pirates went down in order again in the fourth when two errors gave the Dodgers a 2-0 lead. Singles by Neal and Don Demeter and Mazeroski's error on Zimmer's bunt loaded the bases with none out.

Neal and Demeter scored as Roseboro forced Zimmer at second and Dick Groat threw wild in a try for a doubleplay. Newk fouled out, but Gilliam beat out an infield single, then was forced by Cimoli.

The Pirates gained a 3-2 edge in the fifth. Thomas opened with a home run, his fourth of the season and third in three games here. Mazeroski beat out an infield hit with one out and Law singled after Hank Foiles fanned. Virdon's single scored Mazeroski and sent Law to third. Groat singled Law home with the lead run.

The Dodgers tied it 3-3 in their fifth on consecutive singles by Snider and Hodges and Neal's sacrifice fly.

The Pirates counted five in the sixth for an 8-3 bulge. Thomas cleared the screen again, after Ted Kluszewski's single. That broke the tie and chased Newk. Right-hander Ed Roebuck relieved, but gave up a double to Mazeroski after fanning Mejias, then walked Foiles ahead of Law's first home run of the season, fifth in the majors. It too cleared the left field screen. Southpaw Jackie Collum (0-0) relieved Roebuck and gave up a double to Virdon before retiring the side.

The Dodgers got rid of Law in their sixth, but failed to score. Carl Furillo batted for Collum and singled with one out. Gilliam and Cimoli singled to load the bases. Right-hander Ron Blackburn relieved Law and Snider tapped into a double play, Foiles to Klu.

Right-hander Don Bessent was the fourth Dodger pitcher. Thomas opened the Pirate seventh with his fourth hit, a single off the screen, but Mejias hit into a doubleplay and Mazeroski flied out. The Dodgers went down in order.

The attendance was 16,503.

Blackburn doubled off the base of the left field screen with one out in the Pirate eighth, but Virdon fanned and Groat grounded out. Roseboro singled with one out in the Dodger eighth, but was forced by Elmer Valo, hitting for Bessent. Gilliam singled, but then was forced by Cimoli.

Ray Narleski Posts 9-1 Win Over Senators

Vernon, Carrasquel Wallop Home Runs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ray Narleski stopped Washington with five hits Thursday night as Cleveland defeated the Senators, 9-1. Mickey Vernon contributed a home run and a triple and Chico Carrasquel supplied a home run and a double to pace the Indians' 11-hit attack.

Albie Pearson, rookie outfielder, accounted for three of the Senators' hits off Narleski, who achieved his third victory against one loss.

Ralph Lumenti, rookie lefthander, started for the Senators and failed to survive the third inning as the Indians clipped him for a run in the first inning and three more in the third.

Narleski balked across the Senators' only run with the bases loaded and one out in the first inning. He pulled out of that early jam when Julio Becquer fouled to third baseman Bobby Avila, Jim Lemon was purposely passed and Rocky Bridges flied out.

Chicago Beats Orioles, 4-3

Baltimore Outhits White Sox, 10 To 6

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made a little go a long way Thursday night, beating the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 on five singles and a double.

Meantime, the Orioles pounded starter Jim Wilson and Billy Pierce, who came on in the eighth, for 10 hits including a homer, 4 doubles and 5 singles.

Sherm Lollar—perennial heavy spring hitter—led the last-place White Sox' attack, knocking in two runs with his first inning single. Lollar also singled in the third inning.

The other Chicago hits were Nellie Fox' bunt and single and Luis Aparicio's double and single. Aparicio knocked in the White Sox third run with a double in the fourth and later scored on Fox' single to right.

Jim Marshall, obtained by the Orioles from Chicago in a winter trade, knocked in two runs with his first homer of the season in the second inning. He also singled Al Pilarcik home in the fourth.

The Orioles scored their final run in the eighth when Pilarcik picked up his third safety, a single, and Gene Woodling doubled him across.

Opening lead: Deuce of diamonds.

East's trigger double today with a silent partner and two vigorously bidding opponents ranks in the eyes of this observer as a major indiscretion.

Surely a set of more than one trick is not to be contemplated, and the gratuitous information offered to declarer by the double might easily impair the value of his trump holding. Without the clew provided by the double, declarer could not reasonably have chosen the line of play which proved successful.

North opened with one heart in order to provide himself with a convenient rebid of two diamonds, tho he could very readily have made a normal one diamond bid. South properly rebid his six card suit and then refused to accept North's aggressive jump to three no trump because of his highly unbalanced distribution. It was at this point that East made his revealing double.

West opened the deuce of diamonds and the queen went to East's ace. The ten of clubs came back, driving out North's ace, and on a spade lead declarer finessed the ten which held the trick. Desperate measures were now in order, for a diamond had been lost; therefore, the enemy must be held to one club trick. Since three discards were required, the finesse of the heart jack became mandatory.

When this maneuver succeeded, declarer disposed of three clubs on the two high hearts and the king of diamonds. He then ruffed himself in with a diamond, reducing his hand to four trumps.

The lead was thrown to the opposition with the jack of clubs. West won and played the eight of clubs which declarer ruffed, bringing himself down to three trumps. By exiting with the seven of spades, declarer found himself in an impregnable position with the ace-queen of trumps left for the last two tricks and the opposition enjoying the doubtful pleasure of the lead.

School Custodian's Appeal Docketed

The State Workmen's Compensation Commission record in the case of Mrs. Sadie M. McDonald, 134 Springdale Street, against the Allegany County Board of Education and the State Accident Fund has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Mrs. McDonald, who had been employed nine years as custodian at Cresaptown School, broke her back September 10, 1955, when she fell off a chair while washing windows.

R. Duncan Clark, who was a commissioner in the old State Industrial Accident Commission, ruled that Mrs. McDonald's temporary total disability lasted until November 2, 1956. He figured she had lost 25 per cent of the industrial use of her body.

Commissioner Clark also ruled that Mrs. McDonald should receive $17.54 a week beginning November 3, 1956, for permanent partial disability to the limit of a total of $3,125. Mrs. McDonald appealed the decision of last October 2, 1957, through her attorney, Simon F. Reilly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 1 (INS)—Dennis Hopper did such a fine job in "The Young Land" that he was given a contract by Cornelius "Sonny" Vanderbilt Whitney. Dennis, who is 22, has been signed to a one picture a year deal up to 1963. That makes Pat Wayne (with whom Dennis costarred in "The Young Land") and Dennis the only two actors under contract to Whitney Productions.

Hopper's deal is non-exclusive. He has been in New York studying with Lee Strasberg and his first picture in the Whitney deal is "The Valiant Virginians" which Sonny plans to make this year.

Mrs. Whitney, the former Mary Lou Hosford, who was in "The Missouri Traveler," has decided against going on with her motion picture career. With her cook books and private life she has enough to keep her busy.

What will it do to the marriage plans of Richard Egan and Pat Hardy scheduled for June 6 in San Francisco now that Buddy Adler has told the bridegroom-to-be that he starts "These Thousand Hills" with Don Murray the 20th of May? Knowing Dick Egan, I'm betting he won't postpone that big event in his life even if he has to fly from the movie set to his wedding in make-up!

But Cupid or no Cupid, "These Thousand Hills" must start on schedule so that co-star Don Murray will be free to take over the Tony Perkins role in "Look Homeward, Angel" in London. Murray has it in his 20th deal that he works two years then takes a year off for stage work and his charities.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, in one of the shortest dresses at the Charles Le Maire party, stopped to tell me that she opens at the Cafe de Paris in Washington, D. C., on May 16.

"I will be there 10 days," she said, "and I will have Joey Adams who was my partner at the Riviera in Las Vegas with me, but we are going to have new material. I leave Sunday to rehearse in New York."

Zsa Zsa says she will fly back to Omaha May 10 to be guest of honor at the Beaux Arts Ball. "I am so busy," says Zsa Zsa, "but that's what I like."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

There are wedding bells in the offing for Barbara Rush's sister, Ramona, who'll marry Dale Henneseey of the 20th Century-Fox art department.

I printed six months ago that Ruth Dubonnett, divorced wife of Andre Dubonnett, and composer Julie Styne had matrimonial plans. I got a big denial. Now Ruth is in town and the rumors are fast and thick.

Judy Garland and Sid Luft returned on the same train that brought Doris Day and Marty Melcher back to us.

Arriving at the same time was Mrs. Nicholas Schenck who joined her husband who is here to see his brother, Joe. Both are delighted with Joe's improvement.

Academy Award winner Orry-Kelly stays on the Warner lot to design Maria Schell's dresses for "The Hanging Tree." He's just finished "Auntie Mame's" lavish wardrobe for Rosalind Russell and may do her clothes for her TV show, "Wonderful Town."

A highlight of Carl Laemmle Jr.'s birthday party was the special edition of racing form with an article by Herb Stein.

Over 140 people accepted Rosabelle (Junior's sister) and Stanley Bergerman's invitation to Junior's 50th birthday party at the Beverly Hills Club. Rabbi Magnin made a nice speech. He and Mrs. Magnin are just back from a trip around the world.

Eddie Cantor toasted Junior and the Bergermans were assisted in making this an occasion to remember by their son and daughter, Stanley, Jr., and Carol. Junior proudly showed the diamond cuff links Carol gave him.

Received a card from the Prince and Princess of Monaco announcing the birth of their son. Grace writes that her baby son is fat and rosy and has dimples like his father.

May 4 is Audrey Hepburn's birthday but Mel Ferrer isn't able to get away to spend it with her in Rome so he's had De Givenchy take some dresses for Audrey to make her choice. Her mother will be with her.

Market's Small Advance Gives It New 1958 High

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market squeezed out a small advance Thursday to reach new high ground for the year.

Some leading issues rose fractions to more than a point. Losses were mostly in fractions.

The market followed Wednesday's strong rally by moving higher throughout the session until moderate profit taking developed in the final 30 minutes.

Oils, steels and various specialties moved upward with some vigor. Near the close steels became irregular and some oils oils turned to the downside. International oils generally held their gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 20 cents to $167.90, its second 1958 high in as many days. The average is at the highest since Oct. 2, 1957, but far under last year's peak of $188.80.

The AP industrial component gained 80 cents, while rails were down 30 cents and utilities off 10 cents.

Trading amounted to 2,630,000 shares compared with Wednesday's 2,900,000 shares.

Strength in oils and steels was attributed by some to reports these industries may be at or near the bottom of their downturn. Wall Street said international oils were bolstered by the improved picture in the Middle East.

County To Take Part In Civil Defense Alert

Public Will Not Be Participants

Allegany County will join other counties throughout Maryland in observing Operation Alert, the national Civil Defense exercise which will be conducted next Tuesday and Wednesday.

This will not be a "public" alert, William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense operations in Allegany County said it will be primarily a staff training exercise.

The nerve-center of the county will be located at the Civil Defense headquarters in Constitution Park, where officials will be in constant touch by radio with the state and federal agencies representatives at the State Control Center in Pikesville.

Radio "Hams" To Help

Mr. Barger plans to be on hand at the park headquarters along with Charles Smith, who is deputy county director. Also on the job will be John B. White, chief CD radio officer of the county.

Mr. White will be in contact with the county and state CD officials, along with "ham" radio operators who will maintain contact at the park headquarters and in their own homes throughout the county area.

CD activities in all parts of the state will be coordinated from the Pikesville Center during the exercise which takes the form of a command post drill. The exercise will be triggered by a simulated warning that will come to all states via the CD National Warning System.

Theoretical planes will then be on their way to attack the United States. Sealed enevolpes at that time will be opened by CD Directors in all Maryland counties and Baltimore City. Information in the envelope will tell the time of "bomb strikes" and their location.

Recovery Measures

These "bomb strikes" will furnish the basis for further play of the exercise. Various agencies with CD responsibilities will swing into simulated action and act to promote recovery measures in the state.

Communications from the State Control Center will be via three radio systems to the counties—the State Police - Civil Defense radio net, the State Forests and Parks Department radio net, and amateur bands. Two other radio circuits will link Pikesville with Baltimore City and Rockville.

Other messages will be transmitted by telephone and by dual teletype circuits. The opening of the exercise will come at an unspecified time the first day when the "air attack" warning is flashed.

Sherley Ewing, State Civil Defense director, pointed out that play of the exercise is governed by national standards issued jointly by the Office of Defense Mobilization and the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Port Beacon Pact Reached

A contract for the maintenance and inspection of the homing beacon of the Cumberland Municipal Airport has been approved by the City Airport Commission.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the contract with Ralph W. Wirgman provides for regular inspections and maintenance of the beacon located in Constitution Park.

He said a police patrol car also makes night checks of the tower to make sure warning lights are burning. Dual lights are used, he said, so if one burns out the other will continue to light the radio tower.

The Police Department also aids by checking a monitor set at headquarters during each shift. The monitor is equipped with a buzzer which is set off whenever the signal stops.

Cub Scouts To Clean Up Baltimore St. Saturday

Continuing their monthly projects in civic affairs and public welfare, Boy Scout Cub Pack 2 of Pennsylvania Avenue School, will demonstrate their interest in a cleaner city by removing paper and debris from Baltimore Street Saturday afternoon.

According to Cubmaster Harold Legeer, 416 Seymour Street, arrangements have been made with Mayor Roy W. Eves and Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, for the boys to form four teams and do the clean-up project beginning at 2 p. m. Saturday.

Wearing placards telling of their project with slogans such as "Don't Be a Litterbug," "Help Keep the City Clean," "A Clean Town is a Healthier Town," "Keep America Beautiful," and others, the boys will start a team from the Baltimore and Ohio crossing westward on each sidewalk, working to Centre Street. Two other teams will start at the Western Maryland Railway and work to Centre Street.

When the teams meet at the intersection of Centre and Baltimore Streets, they will proceed northward to the City Hall. There the amount of paper, debris and trash they have picked up will be assembled, weighed and photographed.

Cubmaster Legeer said that each month the boys in the Cub Pack adopt a new project. They have covered such items as "Safety," "Proper Use of Bicycles," "Community Service," and for this month the boys, who range between 8 and 11 years, suggested that they would like to clean up the city.

Legeer said the boys have been discussing the habits of local people in dropping paper and debris on the sidewalks and streets and the practice of some merchants of sweeping dirt and debris into the streets.

They hope by this public demonstration to encourage all citizens to begin a program of cooperation to make the city more attractive the Cubmaster explained.

Outdoor Course Is Planned For Area Scouters

An outdoor training course for all adult Scouters of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday and Sunday at Camp Potomac, near Oldtown, according to K. S. McKee, Keyser, council training chairman.

Up to 40 Scouters are expected to attend the course which will get under way Saturday at 2 p. m. and close Sunday at 2 p. m. after religious services.

The event will be an "outdoor" course, with members sleeping in tents and doing their own cooking by patrols.

The outdoor course, Dean McKee said, will provide Scouters with an opportunity to learn many Scouting skills by participation and observation.

Veteran Scouters will be on hand, he said, to provide help on cooking kinks and camping skills.

Menu planning, hike or camp programs or any other subject desired, will be discussed.

Scoutmasters and advisors are being asked to invite their assistants or members of their committee to the course.

Md. Blue Cross Hearing Delayed

BALTIMORE (AP)—State hearings will start May 19 instead of May 12 as scheduled originally on a request to increase Blue Cross rates 22 per cent in Maryland.

Anyone wishing to be heard still will have to inform Jackson in writing by next Wednesday.

The hearing will be held in the City Hall at 10 a.m. The Blue Cross, through the Maryland Hospital Service, has more than one million subscribers in the state.

Crafts Will Meet

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Forestry Camp Youths Receive Year Sentences

Two 16-year-old boys from the State Forestry Camp at Lonaconing yesterday were committed to the House of Correction for a year on two motor vehicle charges.

The lads, booked as Richard Coleman and Frank Arthur, were charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Trial Magistrate Morris Baron, who presided after the Juvenile Court waived jurisdiction, imposed six-month sentences, to run consecutively on each charge.

The Baltimore youths were committed to the House of Correction with a recommendation they be transferred to the Reformatory for Males where they can work on the prison farm.

They were arrested by Maryland State Police and Mr. Baron said testimony showed they had taken articles from another car before attempting to steal the one in which they were picked up.

The magistrate said it was the fourth "unauthorized use" charge for one and the second for the other.

Inquest Slated In Fatal Crash

A coroner's inquest into a highway accident on April 22 near Bedford, Pa., which claimed the life of Mrs. R. Irene Crum, 60, of Johnstown, will be held at 4 p. m., Monday in the Bedford County Court House.

Mrs. Crum was a passenger in a station wagon driven by her daughter, Mrs. Jesse G. Lynch, 36, of Ayer, Mass., who was hospitalized. A truck rammed into the rear of the Lynch station wagon. Driver of the truck was Raymond Edward Eversole, 43, of RD 3, Keyser, an employe of Faulk Brothers of Keyser.

The accident occurred about eight miles south of Bedford on U.S. Route 220 in Cumberland Valley Township. Two other occupants in the station wagon were Mr. and Mrs. David Harr of Johnstown. Mr. Eversole and Mr. Harr were slightly injured.

County Issues 53 Permits For Buildings

Number Authorized Exceeds March

Fifty-three permits for construction estimated by the builders to cost a total of $199,690 were issued during April by the Allegany County assessing department for work in the unincorporated areas of the county.

The number of permits was higher last month than in March of this year and in the corresponding month of 1957. However, the estimated cost was higher both in April 1957 and in March of this year.

In March of this year there were 41 permits for construction estimated to cost a total of $303,475. Last April there were 50 permits for construction costing a total of $246,510.

For the first four months of 1958, the total estimated cost of construction authorized by county building permits is $605,390. During the same period a year ago, the total was $2,611,985. However, $2,000,000 of that total was for a shopping center along Winchester Road which has not yet been developed. Without that one large project which has not yet materialized, the four month total is only $6,595 above 1958.

The 53 April building permits authorized construction in 18 different election districts of the county. The leader was Election District 29, LaVale, with 12. This was the last month for LaVale permits from the assessing department. Under the new zoning regulations, effective with the beginning of May, new building permits in that election district must be issued by the LaVale Zoning Board.

Eight other election districts had more than one April permit. After LaVale they were District 13, Mt. Savage, six; District 7, Cresaptown-Rawlings; District 16, North Branch, and District 23, East Side suburban, each five; District 5, North End suburban; District 6, West Side suburban, and District 21, Gross, three each, and District 8, Westernport suburban, two.

Other election districts with a single April permit included District 1, Little Orleans; District 2, Oldtown; District 3, Flintstone; District 12, Frostburg suburban; District 18, Midland; District 19, Borden Shaft; District 22, East Side suburban; District 26, Frostburg suburban, and District 30, Zihlman.

Twenty-three of the 53 April building permits authorized construction of new dwellings. Of the rest six were for additions to dwellings, three garages, three foundations for dwellings, two hunting lodges and two chicken houses, one each of addition to service station, business property with two apartments, dwelling and garage, liveable basement, addition to fruit stand, tool and chicken shed, conversion of garages to a motel, remodel house, utility room for dwelling, garage and breezeway, church, store room, cottage and utility building.

'COPE' Sponsors Primary Rally For Candidates

The Political Action Committee of the AFL-CIO, known in labor and political circles as COPE, has issued invitations to all local political candidates to attend a rally May 14 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the Woodmen of the World Home, Union Street.

Letters have been sent to each candidate whose name will appear in the primary election May 20, in this county, inviting them to be present at the "Non-Partisan, Get-Acquainted Rally."

Graydon S. Dunlap, 117 Greene Street, chairman of COPE here, said the purpose of the rally is merely to have the candidates meet labor people and have labor people meet and know the candidates. There will be no formal program. Refreshments will be served and the evening will be spent in an informal way, so candidates can devote their time to associating with the voters present.

JOSEPH MAHONEY

Pennsylvania FOE President To Speak Here

Meeting Slated Tuesday Night

The state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Pennsylvania, Joseph Mahoney, will address the officers and members of Cumberland Aerie 245, FOE, on Tuesday, May 6, at 7:30 p. m.

A native of Coatesville, Pa., Mr. Mahoney is in the insurance business there. He has held every office in the Fraternal Order of Eagles in his own community—he is a past worthy president of Coatesville Aerie 467 and for the past few years has been serving as a member of the board of trustees.

He was first elected as a state officer when he was named outside guard at the Philadelphia convention of the state aerie in June 1947.

He served continuously in various state offices until June 1957, when he was elected state president at the 47th annual state convention in Pittsburgh. He has served on various committees of the Grand Aerie.

Mr. Mahoney also served two years as exalted ruler of the Coatesville Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He is also a member of the Loyal Order of Moose, and of the Men of Malvern. Mr. Mahoney is active in numerous community enterprises, including the Red Cross, Community Fund, and the Committee to Aid the Handicapped.

War Souvenirs Exhibit Slated In City, County

An exhibit of explosive ordnace souvenirs will be on display in Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westernport during Armed Forces Week, May 11-17, under sponsorship of the Allegany County Civil Defense organization.

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in the county, said the 149th EOD Detachment from Fort George G. Meade will bring a trailer van to this county.

Lt. James Springle will be in charge of a display of explosive ordnance items which have been found in locations where they could have caused injury to American civilians.

Arrangements have been made through the Cumberland Police Department to locate the van on Baltimore Street on Monday, May 12. The following day the van will be parked on Main Street in Frostburg and will visit Beall High School during the school lunch hour.

On Wednesday, May 14, the van will stop at Valley High School in Lonaconing during the lunch hour, before proceeding to Westernport where it will be on display for the remainder of the day.

The purpose of the demonstration, Mr. Barger said, is to educate the public of the danger of war souvenirs, no matter how innocent they may look or how inactive they may appear. The display will stress the readiness of Army Explosive Ordnance units to deactivate, or render safe, such souvenirs.

United Lutherans Observe 40th Anniversary Sunday

Three Lutheran congregations in Cumberland will join Sunday in observance of the 40th anniversary of the establishment of the United Lutheran Church.

This United Lutheran Church became the largest single Lutheran body in America with the merger of three early synods, the General Synod, United Synod of the South and General Council.

St. Paul's, St. Luke's and St. John's Lutheran churches are all part of the United Lutheran Church. Nationally, the United Lutheran Church has a membership of approximately 2,245,000 out of a total Lutheran membership in this country of about 7,390,000.

The Lutherans of America are divided into 16 separate bodies. Some of them are called synods—a term meaning governing or advisory body; others are designated as churches. By 1965, mergers now in process will reorganize the 16 present churches and synods in America into 10 and these into three main groups, the ultraconservatives, the conservatives and the comparatively liberal.

Lutheranism is one of the oldest denominations in Cumberland. The first local church of this faith, Christ's Lutheran Church, was organized May 11, 1794, and on June 20 of the same year bought the tract at the corner of Centre and Baltimore streets where St. Paul's Church still stands.

Christ's Lutheran Church is considered the predecessor of both St. Paul's and St. Luke's Lutheran churches.

It probably is appropriate that at the time of this Lutheran anniversary, both St. Paul's and St. Luke's churches are in process of building or preparing to build new sanctuaries. St. Paul's start-

D'Alesandro, Long Share Platform

Brickbats Missing At Coffee Hour

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and Clarence D. Long campaigned side by side among the ladies Thursday and performed with gentlemanly restraint.

Neither of the two candidates for the U.S. Senate Democratic nomination knocked the other in a coffee hour put on by the Women's Suburban Democratic Club of Montgomery County in Chevy Chase.

The only reference to other candidates was made by Long.

"You are asked to vote for some of the candidates because they have won so many elections and you are asked to vote for others because they have lost so many times," he told the women.

"I don't blame you for being confused."

This was just after D'Alesandro had been introduced as the candidate who has won 22 elections in Baltimore City. George P. Mahoney, a candidate who has lost twice for the U.S. Senate and twice for governor, wasn't present.

He campaigned during the day in Frederick and went to a dinner in Anne Arundel County at night.

Promises Liberalism

D'Alesandro assured the Montgomery County women "I was a liberal congressman and, if I'm elected, I'll be a liberal senator."

Mahoney issued a statement renewing his support for a federal income tax reduction.

"I think President Eisenhower will get behind the idea if he can shake himself loose from some of the bad advice he's been getting," Mahoney stated.

In a dig at the Republican President, Mahoney recalled he had urged people to buy as the best cure for the recession.

"A reporter asked him 'buy what?'

"Mr. Eisenhower answered 'anything.'

"It's too bad the reporter didn't ask the next logical question.

"What do we use for money?"

Mahoney has advocated taxes be cut by increasing exemptions by $200.

Hits Food Additives

He also urged that federal laws be amended to prevent any chemical from being added to food.

"Nothing should be added which does not add to the food value of the product," Mahoney said. "Many additives are used to debase the product and kid the public."

He cited an example of epidemic among broiler flocks on the Eastern Shore of Maryland caused by black tar added to poultry feed.

"In this instance, although the economic loss was heavy, the only loss of life or illness was among chickens," Mahoney stated.

"Most people don't realize it, though our present laws don't protect humans any better than they protect chickens. The law permits the use of additives in human food without prior testing to determine their possible harmful effects.

"Later, if enough people get sick or die as a result of eating the stuff, the food and drug authorities can take it off the market.

"This system makes the consumer the guinea pig."

Long Chides Ike

During his trip adjacent to Washington, Long chided the Eisenhower administration for what he termed "quietly and meekly acquiescing on practices of Arab governments which besmirch the significance of the American passport."

Long said the United States should:

1. Notify the Saudi Arabian government that the religious affiliation and practices of American citizens must not be subject to control.

2. Move in the United Nations that Saudi Arabia should abolish slavery.

3. Declare the U.S. will not tolerate foreign interference with movement of American citizens on the grounds of creed or ethnic origin or prior travel.

4. For violation of these principles, the U.S. shall take restrictive measures to the entry and movement of national governments concerned.

Students Offer Club Program

Four Allegany High School students who participated in the three-day Youth and Government Model Legislature program at Annapolis last month presented the program at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

The Kiwanians were "sworn in" as members of the House of Delegates. Carole Ransom, who had served as speaker of the House of Delegates in Annapolis, presided. Other student participants were Emily Tucker, who had been chaplain of the Senate; Leland Ransom and Donald Dowell, both of whom had been members of the House of Delegates.

Yesterday's discussion centered around a proposed bill to require an annual inspection of all motor vehicles in Maryland. The students were introduced by B. U. Smith, executive secretary of Central YMCA, who advised the 41-member Allegany County delegation at the Model Legislature.
